DEPUTY FIRE MARSHAL INVESTIGATES CAUSES OF FIRES HERE
Comes to City at Request of Chief Saunders to Probe Into Origin of Threatening Blaze Yesterday in Congested Tenement District

Deputy Fire Marshal Everett P. Saunders and Fire Chief Edward P. Saunders are conducting a rigid investigation this afternoon, of two fires which occurred yesterday forenoon in the vicinity of Adams and Salem streets.

The deputy fire marshal came to this city at the request of Chief Saunders who, after a preliminary investigation yesterday stated that in his opinion, at least one of the fires was of incendiary origin and that the matter required the attention of the state fire marshal's office.

Capt. David Petrie of the police department, assisted Chief Saunders in the investigation yesterday and coincided with the opinion expressed by the chief.

If the investigation today discloses sufficient evidence as to incendiaryism it is expected that the grand jury will be given the evidence and requested to return indictments against the person or persons suspected.

WEALTHY LANDOWNER AND FORMER PASTOR KILLS HIMSELF
Rev. Elmer Teagarden Left Note Saying He "Could Resist No Longer an Impulse to Kill Himself That Had Pursued Him For Years"

BREWSTER, N. Y., Sept. 26.—Leaving a note saying he "could resist no longer an impulse to kill himself that had possessed him for years," Rev. Elmer Teagarden, wealthy land owner at Peach Lake and former Methodist pastor at Danbury, Conn., died a bullet through his brain last night.

Balls of white paper dancing merrily from strings hung between two peach trees attracted workmen this morning to the body. It lay in an orchard, near the highway. Before firing the fatal shot, Rev. Teagarden evidently had erected the telltale paper balls so his body would be found.

He was 62 years old and for many years prior to 1917, he occupied the pulpit in Danbury. Then he came here and acquired a vast tract of valuable land, including the exclusive Peach Lake summer colony site. A widow and three grandchildren survive him.

RECORD REGISTRATION AT HIGH SCHOOL

A record registration is expected by high school authorities when this evening high school is opened Monday, October 6, and arrangements are being made to care for all who desire to enter the school.

This year's registration for the first session is the second highest in the history of the school and is 10 more than last year. The largest first night registration was in 1920, when 166 were registered.

Another registration session for former pupils will be held this evening at the school office between 7 and 9 o'clock. Persons desiring to enter the school this year for the first time may register at the high school next week on Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday evenings from 7 to 9 p. m.

Waist and Hips Reduced Quickly With Madame X Girdle

Safest, healthiest way to reduce! The amazing Madame X Girdle massages away excess fat almost before you know it. The instant you put it on, you look inches thinner and years younger. Gives you at once Fashion's trim, straight, boyish lines.

THIS marvelous scientific Madame X Reducing Girdle improves your appearance immediately and reduces your waist, hips, thighs and abdomen "almost while you wait." The instant you put it on, the bulky fat on waist and hips seems to vanish, the waistline lengthens and your figure becomes erect, graceful, youthfully slender! And then, with every step you take, with every breath, the fat is met by new life rubber which gently massages it away—though you hardly know you have the girdle on. Most women lose one to three inches the very first week and thousands have lost from seven to ten inches in a remarkably short time!

Physicians
Endorse It

The Madame X is the safest, surest, healthiest way to reduce. In principle it endorses by reputable physicians everywhere, not only for its reducing action but because of the support it gives the figure. It is made of dry-heated rubber (the same kind used by famous athletes for healthful reducing) and is based on scientific massage principles that have caused reductions of 5, 10, 20 pounds and more. Only live uncovered rubber can grip the fat and give a genuine massage. Strong—durable—the new way of reinforcing eliminates all danger of splitting or tearing. No more protruding abdomen—no more fat, bulky hips!

Worn Over the Vest

The Madame X fits as smoothly and snugly as a kid glove, and is so constructed that it fits tight into the figure and touches and gently massages every inch of the surface continually. Worn over the undergarment as a corse—has garters attached. Encircles the hips and thighs as well as the abdomen and holds them in. Comes well up over the diaphragm and supports the muscles of back and sides, helping prevent fatigue. Front comfort out insures perfect

MUKDEN, Manchuria, Sept. 26 (By

(the Associated Press)—The second and fifth armies of Chang Tso-Lin, Manchurian war lord who is opposing the Peking government, are advancing to the southwest against the town of Jehol (Chong-Teh-Fu). up the naval post he has held since the beginning of the administration. Although he was understood to have been urged by cabinet associates not to do so until at least the end of the year, he believes the campaign should receive his full attention.

There had been no indication today as to what action the president would take in the appointment of a successor to Mr. Roosevelt. The duties of the office, in a vacancy, devolve upon Admiral Eberle, chief of naval operations.

Demonstration For Roosevelt
ROCHESTER, N. Y., Sept. 25.—Theodore Roosevelt, the republican nominee for governor of New York state, went forth from the convention that nominated him yesterday to the accompaniment of an enthusiastic demonstration.

The Roosevelt victory—almost equally a victory for United States Senator James W. Wadsworth, who managed the Roosevelt pre-nomination campaign—came after relentless but divided opposition had failed to cut down the majority block of votes which Senator Wadsworth had claimed for his candidate from the first. The Roosevelt claims were vindicated on the first ballot with 69 votes to spare.

Conference among convention leaders.

are during a three-hour recess resulted in a state ticket to run with Colonel Roosevelt, which was adopted with a unanimity that amounted to acclamation when it reached the convention floor, as follows:
Lieutenant Governor, Seymour Lowman, Elmira.
Secretary of State, Mrs. Florence E. E. Knapp, Syracuse.
Comptroller, Vincent E. Murphy, Rochester.
Treasurer, Lewis H. Pounds, Brooklyn.
Attorney-General, Albert Ottinger, New York.
State Engineer and Surveyor, Royal G. Finch, Albany.

INCREASE IN WAGES

Service Board Recommends
More Pay for Water Department Employees

An increase in wages for firemen in the water department from the present rate of $32 a week to the minimum union rate, $39.60, was recommended by the public service board at a regular meeting last evening. The salary of Patrick Lyons, emergency machinist of the water department, was increased from $36.59 to $40 by the vote of the board.

The meeting followed public hearings on a number of street acceptance, sidewalk and sewer petitions, and was called to order at 8:30 o'clock by Chairman Murphy with all members present.

President Christopher C. Cox of Local 14, International Union of Firemen and Oilers, headed a delegation of four union members, and requested for the water department firemen an increase from $32 to $39.60.

Chairman Murphy asked the delegation members why they came at election time and said he disapproved of persons seeking increases just when it is time for a municipal election. Mr. Cox said that the fact that election time was at hand hadn't entered into the union members' thoughts at all.

Supt. Gardner of the water works was asked his opinion of the request and went on record as favoring no increase. Upon his recommendation, Mr. Lyons moved and it was voted to recommend to the mayor that the increase as requested be given.

Mr. Lyons moved that the salary of Patrick Lyons, emergency man and machinist in the water department be increased from $36.59 to $40. Mr. Murphy favored the motion and it was carried unanimously.

A petition of F. J. Murphy to maintain a lunch cart at Fletcher and Broadway streets was returned to the city council with no objections entered by the board.

Councillors Chadwick and Ganeat appeared before the board seeking street repairs in their districts. A communication from the Foster Grain company regarding the dangerous condition of Jackson and King streets was referred to the superintendent of streets.

A communication from Councillor Chadwick concerning the seizure of a small lot of land at Gorham and Carlisle sts. was discussed and it was voted to hold a hearing on the matter at a later date.

The petitions heard by the board and the board's action follow:

That a sewer be laid in Farragut street. Tabled.

For extension of a sewer in Winthrop avenue. Voted.

For extension of a sewer in Bradstreet avenue. Voted.

For a sewer in Shea street. Voted.

That Warren street be accepted. Deferred.

That the following streets be accepted: Union, Jordan, Alma, West Forest, Holmes avenue. Referred for plan and profile.

That edgestones be laid in the following locations: Gorham street in front of Edison cemetery, 31 Albert street, Varnum avenue from 238 to 250, 19 Lyon street, 529 Lakeview avenue, westerly side of Dunfey street, 1334-1392 Gorham street, 159-161 Walker street, 51 Haveria avenue, Farmland road, 32-34 West Forest street, Sherman street at the corner of Pleasant street. All of the above were voted.

That Hildreth street and Lilley avenue at the northwesterly intersection of said streets be widened. Voted.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS
Olive Roberts Barton

THE SOUR OLD WOMAN UNDER THE WATER-FALL

"COME RIGHT IN, ALL OF YOU," SAID SHE.

Nancy and Nick and the Sand Man left the house of the kind Green Wizard in the treetops and went toward the house of the Sour Old Woman Who Lived Under the Water-Fall.

"Tap, tap, tap! they went on her front door.

The Sour Old Woman herself opened it.

"How do you do?" she said sourly.

"What do you want?"

"We came to get my bag of sleepy sand," said the Sand Man. "Someone stole it."

"Well, I can't help that, can I?" said the Sour Old Woman.

"Maybe not," said Nick. "But you can help us. It's time for all the babies to go to sleep and they can't unless the Sand Man finds his bag of sleepy sand. We just came from the Green Wizard's house and we looked into his magic gazing ball."

"What's that?" shouted the Sour Old Woman. "What's all this about a magic gazing ball? What did you see?"

"We saw Tweeekanoose come to your house and put the magic sand under the floor," said Nick.

At that the Sour Old Woman smiled a sour smile and opened her door wide.

"Come right in, all of you," said she. "I just wanted to see how smart you were. Of course Tweeekanoose stole the sleepy sand. He loves to tease the babies, the reason, and he has always been jealous of the Sand Man. You'll find the bag of sand right here."

She lifted a loose board in the floor and pointed down to the cellar.

"Jump down and get it," she said.

Down jumped Nancy and down jumped Nick and down jumped the Sour Man.

But no sooner had they all jumped down into the Sour Old Woman's cellar than she let the board fall down into its place again, and there they were!

"Goodness!" said the Sand Man. "Here's the sleepy sand all right. But much good it does me when I can't get out."

"Don't worry," said Nancy. "We have our magic shoes."

"That's right!" said the Sand Man in a relieved voice. "You and Nick can get out in due shape. But I can't."

"Why?" asked Nick. "Haven't you any magic along?"

"Lots," said the Sand Man. "But somebody will have to stay here and make a noise to fool the Sour Old Woman, or she'll know we have gone. It's two o'clock now and time for afternoon naps."

"I have a plan," said Nancy all at once. "Nick and I can take the sleepy sand and sprinkle it around while you stay here. Then we'll come back and get you."

"That's a fine idea," said the Sand Man.

So the Twins took the bag of sleepy sand and away they went right through walls and everything in their magic shoes. And it wasn't long until all the babies were asleep. The world was very, very quiet.

But the poor Sand Man was tired. He had had a hard day traveling all the way from Shut-Eye Town, where he lived, and with his hay-fever and everything, he was worn out.

And instead of stamping around to fool the Sour Old Woman, he fell asleep.

RAINY DAY WORK

When rainy days prevent outside activities, the careful housekeeper will clean bureau drawers, china closets, chests or trunks.

OPENING OF SELF SERVICE SHOE STORE

An innovation in the shoe store business locally is the new Self Service Shoe store opened today at 25 Central street. In recent years self service grocery stores and restaurants have been opened but this latest development of the self service idea is one which will be welcome to both patrons and clerks in stores. The Lowell branch is one of six stores now being operated in various cities throughout Massachusetts and Rhode Island. Price and the novel idea of service are the outstanding features of the new business organization here. Quality shoes at the right prices, displayed on tables, make it easy for the purchaser to pick out the shoes desired and fit themselves, thereby eliminating much fuss and bother, the result of long waits in a shoe store while the clerks attend to three or four customers at one time.

The shoes range in price from $1 to $4.75, this low price being made possible through the self service idea. All makes of shoes are on display at the new store in Central street and include the latest in the line of fashionable footwear.

Even at this early date the new Self Service Shoe store is finding favor with the local public, this conclusion being drawn from the large number of prospective purchasers who visited the store during the day.

The management wishes to announce that whether or not you wish to purchase a pair of shoes you are welcome to walk in and give the place the once-over and thereby be convinced that the self service way is the way to buy shoes.

POICEMAN AND PRINCESS

BY GENE COHN.
NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—Policeman Jack McIntyre has smiled his way into a sort of fairy tale in which there dwells a lovely princess and a millionaire, and in the background there is a drop curtain of palaces and playgrounds such as might have been fashioned by Maxfield Parrish.

To "Smiling Jack," as he is internationally known, there has come an adventure such as O. Henry loved to write about—another Bagdad-on-the-Susway tale in which circumstances twist about to whisk someone away on a magic carpet.

It might have been named "The Policeman and the Princess," for smiling Jack is to be the guest of the Princess of Tyngsboro, and the millionaire husband, William J. Leeds, Jr., son of the famous tin plate magnate.

He is a veritable human. "Who's who" he knows practically everyone who travels.

And upon them all he has smiled either congenially, humorously or sympathetically.

"You see," he explains, "they're all human. Their names may sound big but I've noticed that they like to get out of role, as they say on the stage. They like to relax. I've heard some of the biggest men and women burst into slang and even use bad English just to relax from the purities of their positions. Underneath they're pretty much all alike. You've got to meet them though to appreciate it."

And "Smiling Jack" has met them all. He has given them a handshake and a smile. When a body arrives at Leeds, he has met them congenially and he has made many friends.

Such social intercourse has resulted in a simple philosophy based upon congeniality. Policeman McIntyre's residence is decorated with little signs reading "Keep Smiling." There is one on the mirror, another faces the bed and there are more on the trunks that he and the Mrs. will take with them.

He has written it on his face as you told him he would one day be climbing the plank, his wife on his arm, for a six weeks' European jaunt with a princess as his hostess he would have searched your hip pocket.

Goodbye America! Yet that's just what happened. For several years he has met young Leeds as the millionaire came and went from Europe. A mutual liking resulted and when Leeds and his bride, the former Princess Xenia, returned from abroad an invitation was issued by the policeman and his wife to be their guests on a tour of Europe.

"And it couldn't have come at a better time," smiles the officer. "You see the wife hasn't been in very good health and needs a sea trip. Things come out this way somehow."

"The princess is a very wonderful woman," he continued. "She has the reserve and dignity of her aristocratic past, but once you meet her she is very pleasant. As I've said, they're all human. Only she seems so delicate you hate to shake hands for fear of breaking something."

So his palaces and playgrounds for "Smiling Jack" and his misadventure in this modern fairy tale.

WINDOWS PICTURES OF SILKEN BEAUTY

Schmidt Bros. Silk Shops, a branch of which originated in Lowell, is offering to Lowell women one of the largest and best lines of silks to be found locally. Devoted entirely to the selling of silks, the store is in a position to offer the best in this line. The windows of the new shop are a picture of silken beauty. Displayed there are silks of all shades, principally the latest fall favorites, including honeydew, dawn blush and the new shade of blue, as well as various shades of green, including the very popular emerald green. The quality of Schmidt Bros. silks is known throughout the state and the Lowell store is one of five being operated in Massachusetts.

IMPROVEMENTS IN TELEPHONE BOOK

Delivery of the New Lowell district telephone directory was started Wednesday. Manager Leathers of the telephone company says that the work of putting the new book into the office or residence of every subscriber will be completed in a few days.

Two changes have been made in the directory. The names of all individuals or business concerns that are listed in the new book are printed in a full face going letter similar to the listings in the Boston telephone directory. Heretofore the names have been printed in the straight Roman type. The change is a great improvement in the legibility of the listings.

Another welcome innovation is the inclusion in the new book of a Lowell classified telephone directory. These classifications include only subscribers to business service at business rates or office associates of such subscribers who have a listing in the alphabetical section and pay $3 annually for each classified listing.

The foot-note advertising which heretofore has been printed at the bottom of the alphabetical pages, has been removed in the new book and all advertising appears in the classified section.

The book not only gives the listings of all Lowell subscribers, but the listings of subscribers in Billerica, Burlington, Chelmsford, Dracut, Dunstable, North Wilmington, Peabody, N. H., Tyngsboro, Tyngsboro, Westford and Wilmington.

PAWTUCKETVILLE SOCIAL CLUB

A regular meeting of Pawtucketville Social club was held last evening in the club rooms in Moody street with President Alphonse Fortier in the chair. Applications for membership were received and referred to the membership committee. Messrs. Gellman, Gervais and Roudreau discussed the matter of enlarging the present quarters but no definite action was taken. Messrs. Louis P. Turcotte, Alphonse Fortier and Alphonse Descoignes were named as the club's committee to the conference of Franco-American societies which is to be held next Sunday evening in the Court St. Antoine clubrooms under the auspices of the Comité Permanent de Naturalization. Following the meeting an interesting talk on registration was given by Albert Robinson, who announced that registration classes will be opened on Oct. 6 at the C.M.A.C. and the following day at the Pawtucket school.

Finds for Plaintiff

of Mrs. Julia H. F. Burd of Saratoga Springs, N. Y., sister of Mr. Flske, who brought suit to recover the difference between what the trustees acquired her interest in the property for and the fair value of the same. In finding on the facts that a decree may be entered for the plaintiff, Judge Sanderson does not specify the amount of money involved and sets forth that unless the parties agree within 20 days from the filing of the finding of facts on the amount with which the defendants are chargeable upon an accounting, a master may be appointed to hear the parties and state the account.

Atty. William D. Regan, representing Mrs. Burd, said today that the amount of money involved is in the vicinity of $20,000.

Judge Sanderson finds that Mrs. Burd for many years before June 29, 1920, was owner of an undivided half interest in the Flske property and that on that date she sold this interest to the defendant, Robbins and Ellis, for the inadequate sum of $51,504.90.

The case went to trial before Judge Sanderson at East Cambridge on Sept. 9 and was concluded on the 11th. Edward Fisher represented the defendants.

In her bill of complaint the plaintiff contended that at the time of her conveyance of her share in the property to the defendants she was ignorant of the real value of the property and charged that the defendants failed to disclose to her the knowledge possessed by them of the value of her undivided half interest and "falsely represented to the plaintiff material facts in relation to the value of properties in Lowell." She further set forth that at the time of her disposal of the property, her interest was worth at least $75,000 and after acquiring the property the defendants sold it again at a price largely in excess of the consideration paid to the plaintiff.

Ship and Crew of 25, Lost

at Detroit, was sunk with her crew and cargo of stone.

The owners of the Clifton base their hope on the fact that none of the rowboats or ours, or any wreckage from the Clifton has been sighted by the scores of steamers plying Lake Huron, or boats sent out to search.

Reports that the Clifton put in at East Tawas and Oscoda, Mich., on Lake Huron, Tuesday, was discredited. The steamer Cadillac, which passed East Tawas while down-bound on the west coast, reported last night that she saw nothing of the Clifton.

Lake men ridiculed reports that she had put in at Oscoda, declaring that the Clifton drew 20 feet of water and it was impossible for her to have entered that harbor.

The last reliable information came from Mackinaw, where the Clifton was reported passing Sunday morning, after she sailed from Sturgeon bay for Detroit. The only other information as to her whereabouts was in press despatches.

The Clifton, formerly the Samuel Mathis, was commanded by Captain Emmett D. Galtagher, St. James, Mich. She was built in 1922 and had a capacity of 2500 tons.

FAVOR HOLLYWOOD BE-CAUSE OF OUTDOOR LIFEBY JACK JUNGMEYER
N.E.A. Service, Writer

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 26.—Golf, while only remotely related to movie making, may be the decisive factor in the production tug-of-war between Hollywood and New York.

Many prominent picture players are ardent golfers. Deny them indulgence of the ancient and honorable sport and they are unhappy. For these, Hollywood with its easy access to a dozen greens, is preferable over Gotham.

"If you enjoy playing 18 holes several times a week and prize a low score," says Kenneth Harlan, who has just returned from New York, where he was "harassed" several months by all means stay in southern California.

The actor's advice to his fellows might be considered lightly were it not that it links with weightier reasons why several producers who would have deserted Hollywood for New York met with such stiff opposition from all classes of studio workers, including even the highest priced stars.

Actors and technical workers, with few exceptions, have become habituated to outdoor life and sports that may be indulged in the year round. They are southern Californians.

Kenneth Harlan, who in New York bred, wasted not an hour in departing for Hollywood after completing his featured roles for the Whillman-Bennett productions, "The Man Without a Heart" and "Two Shall Be Born." This despite the fact that he was receiving a higher salary there than he gets in Hollywood and that he had even better offers to stay for more pictures.

"Two pictures in New York were enough for me," he said. "Not because I didn't like the pictures and all who were connected with them, but living and working conditions in New York, as compared with those in Hollywood, are almost insufferable."

"It took an hour to get from my hotel to the studio, and longer to get back at night. Motion picture hours are long enough even when one can live within 15 minutes' drive from studios in Hollywood."

"Then the expense of maintaining an auto, indispensable to the actor's business, is anywhere from a half more to double what it is in California. And the necessity of using crowded ferries and bridges to get to country locations in Jersey or 'state' adds to the nerve-racking waits and delays."

"Give me California, where a man can get proper recreation every day."

The loss of half a day in New York to get to golf links comparable to any of a score of 15-minute drives from the heart of Hollywood, is most aggravating. At home here I can play nine holes every morning before reaching the studio at nine o'clock.

"All work and no play makes Jack a very dull boy, even in motion pictures."

Because of increased cost of living, the actor cannot afford to work in New York except at a figure considerably higher than the Hollywood "scale." Add to this expense factor the positive disinclination of the player accustomed to outdoor freedom in the west to relinquish that freedom, and you have a compelling reason why southern California will remain the popular production field, says Harlan.

Fabrics and Trimmings

COLORS

Every new shade that Fall has sponsored is represented although the most popular Dress color is Black and next to that Brown and Green. The wool Dresses show some new shades of Brown touched with reds which are really variations of the older Rust shade.

Satin is the fabric of first choice among the silks and its sheen is everywhere apparent. Black and russet are its favored shades. Buttons, buttons everywhere and never one for use. They are chief among the trimmings for Fall with tassels and embroidery crowding them for the leader's place.

STYLES

The Mandarin is the clever variation of the straight-line mode that makes a place of outstanding importance among Fall Frocks. Coat-style Frocks are most popular in the wools and interpret the tailored mode with subtle success.

If frequent shaving irritates your skin use
Resinol

Perhaps the daily shave makes your sensitive skin burn and smart, or it may cause a rash which is uncomfortable and embarrassing. RESINOL OINTMENT helps greatly to relieve and clear away such ailments, but RESINOL SHAVING STICK tends to prevent them entirely. Its rich, generous, non-drying lather makes shaving a pleasure because no after-shaving lotions are necessary, and the face is left smooth, cool and soft. Resinol products at all druggists.

IN NEW YORK

By Stephen Hannacker

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—Mollied street, down on the East Side, where the kiddies use the sidewalk for a school slate. A medley of odors, ranging from alien olfactory organs. Tenement houses, with refuse receptacles on the front door stoop. There are no alleys.

Grubby-faced children, reared in defiance to all rules of sanitation, are healthy, happy and industrious.

Street peddlars. Offering fruit of the season. And bananas are plentiful. Fish, displayed in running water. Smoked meats. A sleepy cat guarding them. Sacks and gala pink stockings. A pair and a half for 45 cents. Eggs, from 3 to 5 cents apiece. I wouldn't want scrambled eggs unless I had a dime.

Cigars made while you wait. Long and black and treacherous looking. Reeking air on the fire escapes. Buxom women hanging out of third story windows, lazily gazing at the bedlam beneath. Contentment in squar-

Traffic policemen at every block. Poker faces and staid, peering eyes. They direct the constant ebb and flow of vehicles and pedestrians unconsciously. Their thoughts are on other things. Desperate criminals in this area.

Salesmanship at its height. One of three young men approach me. "Stranger down here, eh?" he queried. "Whenever you want any booze call me," he continued. I took his card and promptly lost it. Wouldn't want to get caught with that in my wallet. Storekeepers who stand on the sidewalk and talking pedestrians by the

RICHARD E. RYAN, Manager

WOMEN'S PART IS MYSTERY OF ELECTION

By HARRY B. HUNT
N.E.A. Service Writer
WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—How much do women really care about politics? That's what the party deponents are wondering about. They figure the first genuine test will come this fall. Women had the franchise four years ago but it had only just been given to them and there wasn't time enough before election for much of an effort to get their full vote out. This campaign a very vigorous effort is being made.

That a few women are interested here's no question. Those engaged in the woman's work of the campaign are as enthusiastic as any of the brethren. But the rank and file?

Party managers speak very confidently of the feminine support they expect their various tickets to get, but the fact is they don't know, can't even guess.

It's possible for more women's votes to be cast than men's. There are more women in the country. A good many men are indifferent. The ballot's no novelty to them. Women, to whom it is a novelty, may get a "kick" out of casting it for just that reason.

Or maybe they haven't generally been educated up to an interest in politics yet.

The next three or four weeks will tell the story. Registration will be about finished then. If women don't register, it's fair to assume most of them will be on hand at the polls.

Director S. T. Mather of the National park service is going to South America to look over the country for ideas worth adopting in this country. He may see some things he'll have trouble reproducing here, even with government aid.

For instance, on the Argentine-Brazilian border he'll see Iguazu falls. They're higher and wider than Niagara. The gorge they empty into is deeper than Niagara's, too.

This gorge in turn empties into the River Paraná. Nearly every year, during high water, the Paraná backs into the gorge and fills it clear to the top, so that, for the time being, there are no falls.

Imagine Director Mather getting Lake Ontario to back into the Niagara river until the falls disappeared.

If Jim Courans wins in November, as he won in the Michigan senatorial primaries, it means his investigation of prohibition in connection with his treasury inquiry will go the limit.

Even beaten, he will have, as a lame duck, until March 4, 1925, to go on with his work, but most of the pep will be taken out of it. But if he's re-elected, he'll have the increased prestige of endorsement by the voters of his state.

In spite of everything, the other congressional investigations will lack, after election, something of the jazz which characterized them before the houses adjourned. Then everybody was interested in the effect they might have on the 1924 campaign. When they're resumed—such as are resumed—the next election will be a long way ahead.

Prohibition, however, is non-partisan, with an interest all its own.

Although America isn't in on the pending international arbitration negotiations at Geneva, the Washington government keeps an eye on them.

England's statement of the terms on which she's willing to accept compulsory arbitration has rather stunned officials here. Compulsory arbitration is all right, the English say, but it must apply to anything their navy does in attempting to keep or restore peace.

The Washington official impression is that this leaves considerable latitude for interpretation and it's all England's latitude—whatever interpretation she puts on her navy's doings, other countries will have to agree to.

However, being no party to the negotiations, America hasn't anything to say about it.

GAVE ENTERTAINMENT IN CHURCH VESTRY

The members of the primary department of the Calvary Baptist church school gave an enjoyable entertainment in the lower vestry of the church last evening before a large and interested audience. "The Crowning of Columbus," a patriotic play was the feature of the evening. A musical program was also given as well as several readings. Miss Carrie Stewart directed the playlet while Miss Helen Craig was at the piano. The members of the cast were as follows: John Gordon, Parker Gillespie, Isaac Holmes, Wilcox Turvey, Dorothy Haddock, Mary Burnett, Colleen Fitch, Mary Murphy, Eunice Fitch, Betty Chambers, Margaret Curley, Alpheus Smith, Arthur Pearl, John King, Everett Merrill, Harriet Burnett, Robert Peabody, Thelma Lee, Myrtle Bowler, Marjorie Holmes, Jessie Wheeler, Mr. J. B. Rogers, Raymond Haddock, Archie McCall, Phyllis Sampson, Rhoda Paul, Ruth Sampson, Phyllis Algrave, Doris Christianson, Gladys Sigmondson, Eleanor Stewart, Arlene Heald, Doris Kay, Edward Calkins, Albert Haddock, Howard Rixby, Edgar Kay, Margaret Enger, Mary Holmes, J. J. Varnock, Mava Gordon, Phyllis Spaulding, Marjorie Curley, Hamilton Page, Samuel Bell and Donald Stewart.

The other numbers on the program were: Violin solos by Eugene Merrill, vocal duets by Misses Mava Gordon and Mary Burnett, readings by Miss Helen Fitch, solos by Mrs. Earl Stevenson, and an enjoyable wax doll drill given by the Misses Mary Burnett, Phyllis Sampson, May Curley and Mava Gordon. Miss Edna Gordon and Mrs. A. J. Laverne were the accompanists.

LA FOLLETTE TO TOUR
THE CONTINENT

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—Senator Robert M. La Follette, independent presidential candidate, has decided definitely to take a swing across the continent, carrying his fight for votes into at least a score of states before the close of the campaign.

The senator's itinerary will carry him into the middle west early in October on through the northwest and into Pacific coast states. He intends to wage warfare with particular vigor in California where electors pledged to him have been ruled off the ballot, forcing his supporters to vote for electors listed under the socialist party designation. Several days will be spent stumping the state, with speeches in Los Angeles and San Francisco a certainty.

David K. Niles is working out the itinerary with Senator La Follette and a definite announcement as to speech-making engagements is expected in a day or two.

THE GROTON FAIR

Numerous race track fanatics allied with Lowell Driving club, burned up the roads to Groton yesterday afternoon, to see the first day's card of trotting and pacing provided as a star feature of the opening of Groton's three-day fair at Hazel Grove park. The harness events were exciting and the grand stand and rails were crowded with men and women eager to see the races billed in four classes.

Lowell horses first appeared in the 2 1/2 mile race, purse $300. Manrico, Daigle's bay stallion, taking three firsts in four heats, though hard pressed by Lee Graude, Peter Hall, a black gelding, entered by Burns of Concord, came in third on each trial.

The latter two Lowell speedsters played Topfield, covered the second mile in 2:13 1/2, beating the track record one second. Manrico's time in the first heat was 2:19 1/2; in the third, 2:15 1/2, and in the fourth 2:15 1/2.

The 3:16 trotting race, purse $300, brought six entries with Alie Delmar, Harclonia and Service Flag entered. The latter horse ran out of the money. The first two Lowell speedsters played in for four heats, being ruled out in the fifth when the contest narrowed down to Silk Leader, a brown gelding, and Sure Mike. Also a brown gelding, and with a record of 2:16. Silk Leader won three firsts out of the five trials, and the race. Sure Mike had two firsts, a three and two two.

YOUR bed may be a beautiful Colonial Four-Poster or an elaborately designed bed of present day style, but if it has an inferior mattress or spring it may be as uncomfortable as a bed of corn husks.

An inexpensive bed with a Baker Box Spring and Curled Hair Mattress offers sleeping comfort fit for a king. Baker Box Springs and Mattresses cost less, too, because they last a lifetime.

Step in and let us show you the construction of these springs and mattresses which are used in the best hotels, clubs, and homes throughout the country. See the double bed spring built especially for two people of unequal weight. It prevents the bed from sloping toward the side on which the heavier person sleeps and gives the proper spring support to each.

CAMPAIGN AGAINST SWINDLERS

The Investment Bankers' Association in convention at Cleveland has voted to spend $250,000 in advertising calculated to educate investors as to what kind of securities to buy, what kind to avoid and thus to escape the horde of fraudulent stocks and investment schemes. It is expected that in this way the total amount of money lost in fraudulent or delusive schemes will be reduced to the extent of $500,000,000 per annum.

The bankers could not put out the money for a better purpose. It is simply amazing to find how gullible a vast number of people are when they are taken with the get-rich-quick craze. Some, that have worked hard and saved most industriously during the greatest part of a lifetime, but without any knowledge of business or financial affairs, will listen to the appeals of oily tongued agents or even of advertisements by unreliable investment companies, telling what a great opportunity they offer to investors. We have had several such companies in Lowell and their dupes lost from $1,000,000 to $5,000,000 within the last two years.

One might expect that after such an experience no other swindling operations could succeed here. It is remarkable, indeed one of the things that cannot be explained, that no matter how many are swindled, there will be hundreds of others ready to take the chance that will reduce them to beggary. Ponzi reaped a rich harvest here as in other Massachusetts cities; but that did not prevent other companies from coming here soon after with fraudulent financial schemes and luring millions of dollars of the hard earned money of working people.

The ease with which the swindlers play their game under the guise of legitimate business is simply astounding. It would seem to verify Barnum's statement that the people like to be humbugged; but those who hand out their money expecting to make a fortune, or at least to secure two, three or four times what the ordinary bank pays in interest, very nature of his business is competent to give sound advice on such are simply fooled but they do not know it until too late.

It is for this reason and to protect the people against their own foolishness that the advertising campaign planned by the Bankers' Association is very necessary and is likely to have good results. Of course, the swindlers will tell the people that the bankers want nobody to get the people's money but themselves; but the bankers are responsible and the others—those who sell wildcat stocks through agents, or who ask to be trusted with the investment of vast sums of money without security are not.

Times have not been prosperous of late, and it will be more difficult to conduct swindling operations than formerly, but, nevertheless, bogus stocks will be offered under enticing conditions only to entrap the unwary or the gullible. The safe course in such a case is, to consult a reputable banker, a man who has a reputation and standing in the community who can be relied upon to give an honest opinion and a man who from the very nature of his business is competent to give sound advice on such matters.

SEEN AND HEARD

The woods will soon be turning over their new leaves.

We are hearing some very nice things about the excellent comic features in The Sun. Everybody, of course, has his or her favorite, but the girls seem to be very much interested in "Tom and Jerry." Don't miss "Tom and Jerry." Boots is getting better every day.

A Thought

To business that we love, we rise betimes and go to it with delight.—Shakespeare.

Very Good Once

Having completed a handsome residence, the builder tucked on a shed used for tools and blueprints a sign referring to the new edifice and reading: "A rare bargain at $19,000." As he was standing out in front, a stranger stopped up to him and said: "This one-room shack ain't worth $19,000. I'll give you $15,000 for it."

Not New to Him

"Ever been arrested before?" asked a young lawyer, who had been assigned to defend a prisoner without funds. "Yes, sir. I been in jail twice for grand larceny, once for trespass and ten times for vagrancy." "Well, well! Life with you has not been a grand, sweet song," "No, sir; but this time I got a lullaby."

Cat Rewarded

While putting up a radio aerial at Puckertown, Penn., John Moyer lost his diamond ring. He was about to give up his search for it when his attention was attracted by the queer movements of a pet cat. He noticed the feline watching something. He followed the cat to a spot nearby and there lay the diamond ring. Moyer gave the cat as a reward a quart of milk and a can of fish.

Denied Soft Impenetrability

Mary, the new maid, complained that Master John, aged 5, had put her in time to have breakfast. The following dialogue ensued. Mother—"John, how dare you be so rude? Putting your tongue out is a vulgar trick." John—"I didn't put my tongue out, mummy." "Don't tell lies, now, you naughty boy." "I didn't put my tongue out. I was going past Mary with my mouth open and my tongue happened to fall out."

No Excuse Now

The excuse that one didn't get up in time to have breakfast (Sunday school) began to order for members of the Highland Men's Bible class of the Highland Presbyterian church at Pittsburgh, for breakfast is served in the church basement prior to the opening of the class meeting, ham and eggs being on the menu. The Sunday morning breakfasts are to be continued as a means of stimulating Sunday school attendance.

The Cake Episode

Horne was sent to his room as a punishment for taking forbidden cake from the cupboard. His mother, thinking to make his punishment more impressive, wrote to him when he was all alone and said: "Now, Horne, what did I punish you for?" Horne looked at her in amazement and his face wore a pained expression. "Well, mummy," he replied, "I ate that cake I have been kept in bed all afternoon and now you don't know what you did it for."

Picked Right Man

The two artists met each other at the academy view. They discussed art together, and were unanimous in blaming the judges for not having selected their immortal works to be hung on the walls. "Well, can't grumble, I'm not doing so badly," remarked one of the pair at last. "How's that?" asked the other. "Got a commission?" "Yes, from a millionaire. He wants his children painted badly." "O," remarked his companion, "then I should say that you're the very man for the job."

Do Not Say That Life Is Waning

Do not say that life is waning. Or that hope's sweet day is set. While I've thee and love remaining, Life is in the horizon yet.

Do not think those charms are flying, That roses fade and fall; Beauty hath a grace undying, Which in thee survives them all.

Not for charms, the newest, brightest, That on other cheeks may shine, Would I exchange the least, the slightest, That is lingering now o'er thine.

—THOMAS MOORE.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

One of Lowell's oldest women voters and an octogenarian, never fails to go to the polls and cast her ballot for favorite candidates. She prefers candidates of the democracy, but party designation does not always influence her choice. When she goes to the polling booth, Mrs. Mary J. McLaughlin, of No. 36 Alder street, whose 84th birthday falls on Sept. 27, has regularly cast her ballot in precinct 1, ward 8, ever since she became an enlisted voter in the days when women were first permitted to cast ballots for school committee candidates at a municipal election. Mrs. McLaughlin has faithfully voted, at city primaries and elections, and at state primaries and elections, rarely remaining away from the ballot box except when illness prevented her leaving home, or absence from the city acted as a preventive. The Alder street woman is a native of Ireland, coming to Lowell when but a child of eleven. She married William J. McLaughlin, a former Lowell business man, now deceased, and there are four children. The household is a happy one, who takes so much pride in the possession of her citizenship rights, went to the polls on the recent Lowell primary day and cast a ballot for a man whose candidacy greatly pleased her—Mr. Patrick F. Nestor, who was a candidate for the democratic nomination in the 14th representative district. She is a regular reader of The Lowell Sun and receives it each night without fail. Mrs. McLaughlin has been acquainted with Comrade James C. McLaughlin, the Stockport street Civil war veteran, who has not seen him for many years. The veteran often calls at the Alder street domicile of Mrs. McLaughlin, with a cheery word of greeting and solicitude.

Middlesex county extension service announces that the plans for the new market garden field station, at Cedar Hill, Waltham, are nearing completion. The first greenhouse to be erected will be entirely for experimental work, and will be 200 feet long and 25 feet wide. A boiler house will be erected large enough to heat a service building, with another room large enough to house another boiler to be used in heating the administration building. Workers from Duxtable, Tangleboro, Dracut, Chelmsford, Tewksbury and the Haverhill go to Waltham once a year, at least, and hold an outdoor convention for the purpose of discussing agricultural problems. They are always interested in the land-filling operations being conducted at Cedar Hill by state-paid expert tillers of the soil. At present, the Waltham acreages are planted to corn. The first field contains a corn-borer test. At the Lexington farm, controlled by the farm bureau organization, seed and vegetable tests are carried on regularly all summer, mainly for the purpose of detecting diseases of the common kind and searching for new ones as they appear from year to year from foreign climes.

And now we are to have a Golden Rule Sunday, to be observed Dec. 7. The purpose is to eventually reach world peace through the observance of the Golden Rule. The Golden Rule is to properly observe the day, each and every one must make a practical application on that day of the principles of the Golden Rule. "The man who professes to believe and practice that great international maxim, and who in his prospective sees his neighbor in need and withholds his compassion is a hypocrite," declares Charles V. Vickrey, president of the International Near East association. I wonder just how far this Golden Rule will go toward establishing world peace. If one ignores the Divine Law every day in the year, how can one remember to practice it one day out of 365 just to be "in style?"

At a recent auction of rare volumes in New York, a copy of Sanderson's Biography of the Signers of the Declaration of Independence sold for the sum of $10,750. It would seem that such a valuable work must have had a wide circulation if the number of copies were not quite limited. Besides, it might naturally be supposed that such a book would be preserved through feelings of patriotism and veneration for the men who were the pioneers in founding the republic. It is this consideration that makes the book so valuable at the present time.

The American Classical League finds no decline of educational interest in the study of the classics. This is a healthy sign of intelligence. It is quite easy for people who are anxious to make every study count in the work of making a living to underestimate the value of the classics. Latin and Greek especially should form a part of every college course. Even the

FORTUNE IN POTASH

Indications Point to Dead Sea Becoming Great Financial Asset of Palestine

JERUSALEM, Sept. 26.—Recent investigations indicate that the Dead Sea may become the greatest financial asset of the government of Palestine. It has been found that the waters of the sea contain a very strong precipitate of potash, which, by a simple process, can be extracted at an expense of about $5 a ton, including transportation charges and governmental tax the product can be delivered at the port of Haifa at a cost of $15 a ton, it is estimated, against the price of $30 now obtaining for potash in Europe.

$40,000 LOSS BY FIRE AT NEWBURYPORT

NEWBURYPORT, Mass., Sept. 26.—Fire early today practically destroyed the Hon. Marches, the largest department store in this city. The origin of the fire, which started in the basement of the store, has not yet been determined. The loss is estimated at $40,000.

FIRST UNIVERSALIST CHURCH PROGRAM

The First Universalist church is planning an elaborate and extensive program for the coming month and one which will be conspicuous in social, religious and fraternal circles throughout the city.

The program will be opened with a church supper on Oct. 3, the first to be given by the church. Following the supper a postcard social will be held. This novel idea is quite simple yet most interesting. Through the kindness of Mr. L. A. Derby, the church will have the use of a fine stereopticon and reflectoscope throughout the winter and this will be used at the social where each person present will submit a postcard to be thrown on the screen. If the card represents a view, the person who brought the card is expected to have a word to say about it. This, however, is not compulsory but will greatly add to the enjoyment of the program.

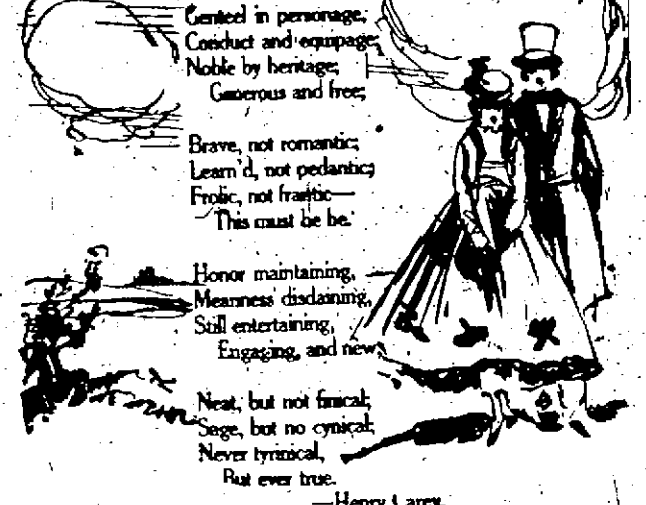

The Mission circle will hold its first meeting on Wednesday afternoon, Oct. 1, at the home of Mrs. E. W. Hunt in Arcadia avenue. Mrs. Frank White, president of the circle, will preside at the meeting. Rally Sunday will be observed Oct. 3, and a large gathering is expected. The Merrimack Valley conference, which will be held at the First Grace church in this city on Oct. 8, will bring representatives from Nashua, N. H., Haverhill, Methuen and Lawrence. A fine program has been arranged for the occasion and luncheon will be served the visitors at noon.

men who take scientific courses adapted to technical pursuits will benefit by a study of both these languages. Yesterday was without doubt the coldest Sept. 25 within recent memory. It was cold in the city and colder in the country. The record, I think, can be claimed by Billerica where several localities reported zero temperature in the early morning. It's a fact, Chief Henry D. Livingston of the Billerica police told me yesterday that the thermometer at his home at 7 o'clock in the morning registered zero. And there was plenty of frost in the ground, too.

The Adams Hardware and Paint Co. in Middlesex street, has hanging on exhibition in one of its windows the original key to the old Lowell jail that once was situated in Dutton street, near Fletcher. It nourished in the year prior to the Civil war and was in use until the one in Thorndike street was opened in 1856. The key, a slouch affair, is about seven inches in length and was the property of the late George Runnels, a stone cutter, who had a part in the erection of the jail in Thorndike street.

The choice of the Latham twins, David and Ernie, as cheer leaders for high school athletic activities, certainly strikes a popular note among the students of the school. The two boys are very popular, and have gained considerable prominence through their activities on the track team. They should make a decided "hit" out at the park for they look alike, act alike, and many even claim they think alike.

THE MAIDEN'S CHOICE

Content in personage;
Conduct and equipage;
Noble by heritage;
Generous and free;
Brave, not romantic;
Learn'd, not pedantic;
Frolic, not frolic;
This must be he.
Honor maintaining,
Meanness disdaining,
Still entertaining,
Engaging, and new;
Neat, but not fussy;
Sage, but not cynical;
Never tyrannical,
But every true.
—Henry Carey.

There's always a reason for everything, yet there's one satisfaction we never can get. The womenfolk gather and chatter and buzz. You ask why they do it—the answer's "because." The Missus refuses to join you at lunch and what is the reason? You haven't a bunch! You wonder and fret like the average man does. You say, "please explain," and she answers, "because." A dapper young fellow will grow a mustache though he knows that the thing will look perfectly rash. Politely you ask him the cause of the fuzz. But he just doesn't know, so he answers "because." Whenever you're stuck on a question folks ask, don't feel that answer's a terrible task. When quizzed as to why—well, just take it from me, just answer "because" and you're safe as can be. Perhaps you will wonder, with reason enough, just why a man writeth this lingo of stuff. The answer should clear me—I hope that it does—and the honest reply to the question's "because."

FLIERS LEAVE TOMORROW FOR EUGENE, OREGON

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 26.—The army round-the-world fliers, who arrived here yesterday from Santa Monica, rested today, a 24-hour delay being occasioned by the forced landing of the Boston 11 at South San Francisco when battery trouble developed. The fliers plan to leave here tomorrow morning for Eugene, Ore., the last official stop before reaching Seattle, Wash., terminus of the flight.

BEAUTIFUL WINDOWS AT THE BON MARCHE

Among the many beautiful display windows in the city are the Bon Marche compartments which this season are displaying the latest in the coat, suit, dress, millinery and footwear worlds. With a background of white imitation stone with lattice work gates and circular windows, reminding one of the old-time walls which surrounded great cities, the display windows are a fine background for the handsome gowns, coats and specialties of Parisian finery in millinery and dress. In each window, perhaps in the centre, perhaps to the side, in whichever position it is most applicable is a huge vase filled with leaves of caprice and dull oak, giving a pleasing touch of autumnal beauty to the picture. The base is of a dull shade which shows

ROBERT E. CROMWELL DIES SUDDENLY

NEW BEDFORD, Sept. 26.—Robert E. Cromwell died suddenly at his home in Vineyard Haven last night. He was a member of the firm of Cromwell Brothers, and was one of the first members of the First American regiment to reach France. He served with the 11th railway engineers and was a veteran of Cambrai.

PRICE OF COFFEE
It is feared in some quarters that the Civil war in Brazil may interfere with our coffee supply and result in raising the price of that popular restaurant beverage, the cup of coffee. A speaker at the national convention of restaurateurs announced that in the very near future the popular eating houses will have to hike the price of the five cent cup of coffee. It is a well known fact that some restaurants have built up their business on the excellence of their coffee which they dispensed at five cents a cup. Most of our coffee is imported from Brazil where the crop this year has fallen far short of that of last year. The difference is estimated as high as a million and a half bags.
Americans use more coffee than any other people in the world in proportion to population. The average consumption is 12 pounds a year for every

SALE OF THE JAIL
One might suppose that as a result of the sale of the local jail, drunkenness and kindred crimes have reached a low ebb in this city and vicinity. Such, however, is not the case. The number of arrests for drunkenness is gradually growing and at the present rate of increase would soon reach the figures of the license period. Moreover, it is well known that a very considerable proportion of the drunks are never seen by the police as they do not drink in public. Their offense does not come to public attention except in extreme cases.
La Polletto has earned the support of the German element in this country and is sure to get a large part of it, although the votes given him are practically thrown away.
Those naturalization classes are doing good work in reminding immigrants of both sexes of the duty to become citizens by complying with the legal formalities for that purpose.

LOTTA CRABTREE DEAD

One Time Famous Actress
Dies at Boston in Her
77th Year

BOSTON, Sept. 25.—The death last night of Lotta Crabtree, the actress who danced her way to a fortune through the mining camps of California and the music halls of Broadway, left theatre-goers of this city with a sense of loss, and with keen curiosity as to what Lotta had done in disposing of her estate. She had promised friends a surprise.

The actress, who died in her 77th year without kin, had added to the profits of her theatrical enterprises larger sums gained in real estate speculation in New York and elsewhere, and owned property in many places. Her fortune has been estimated from a million and a half dollars to three times that amount.

Lotta will be buried next Sunday at Woodlawn cemetery, New York, beside her brother, "Jack" Crabtree, who managed her racing stable until his death.

MADE QUICK TRIP FROM LOWELL TO CAPE COD

From Lowell to Cape Cod and return in a day, a distance of 316 miles, is the record established yesterday by Motorcycle Officer Andrew W. Hunter.

The trip was undertaken to get the signature of Governor Channing Cox on the extraordinary orders recently made out for William A. Long, now detained in Buffalo, N. Y., for the larceny of an automobile belonging to Hinckley and Brew of this city.

Officer Hunter's motorcycle got into action here at 6 o'clock, yesterday morning. He arrived at Wellfleet, the governor's summer home, yesterday afternoon, got the signature and immediately started the return trip. Shortly after midnight last night, he arrived at police headquarters and turned the papers over to Lieutenant Patrick Frawley.

LOWELL GIRLS' CITY CLUB ACTIVITIES

Tonight at the Green Lantern the Girls' City club will conduct its regular Friday evening dancing party which has proved so popular during the summer months. This will be the last of the Friday parties conducted by the club, for beginning next Tuesday the club will hold its parties on Tuesday evenings at The Green Lantern and Saturday evenings at the club in the square.

The Lantern, which was formerly the Pawtucket Bear House, is becoming one of the popular social centers of the city. It is now under the management of the Girls' City club and during the coming months will be occupied nearly every evening with parties of various sorts.

Mr. Herman Brax of the State Normal school met with the educational committee of the club last evening to outline various courses for the coming winter. An unusual number of entirely new subjects will be offered. Mondays will be devoted to gymnasium and games and dancing. Tuesdays and Fridays the dressmaking classes will meet at the club and there will be dancing and bowling at the Green Lantern. Wednesdays will be the meeting night for the executive board and the standing committees. Thursdays will be devoted to cultural classes in the art of dress, correct English, book reviews, music interpretation, civics and various other classes and discussion groups. Saturdays and Sundays will be kept for hikes, teas and talks.

Registration for dressmaking will be taken each day until Monday morning. If a sufficient number has not registered up to that time the course will not be given this year. Club members are urged not to delay in signing up for classes.

WINEQUA COUNCIL

A regular meeting of Winequa council was held last evening and officers for the coming year were installed by the Methuen suite. A social hour followed the meeting with the new officers the guests of honor. During the evening the deputy, Mrs. Otto, was presented a scarf by the council, and Mrs. Anna Holland was presented a bouquet. Mrs. Ida Persons made the presentations and the two recipients thanked the council members for the honor paid them.

SEMI-FINAL ROUND IN
GOLF TOURNAMENT

ARDMORE, Pa., Sept. 25 (By the Associated Press).—The national amateur golf tournament is in the semi-final round today with Robert T. Jones, Jr., of Atlanta, playing Francis Ouimet of Boston and Max H. Marston of Philadelphia, the defending champion, meeting George von Elm of Los Angeles.

Quimet advanced yesterday by defeating Jesse P. Guilford of Boston, 4 and 3, while Jones, continuing the excellent golf that he has displayed throughout the tournament, eliminated R. P. Knepper of Chicago, 6 and 4.

Marston and von Elm have never met before in a national amateur competition. Von Elm's medal scores have been slightly lower and the margins of his victories have been quite a bit larger than Marston's. In the closest match of yesterday's third round Marston defeated Dexter Cummings of Chicago, Yale's intercollegiate champion, by 2 and 1. Von Elm eliminated E. H. Briggs, Jr., of New York, seven and six.

DRIVEN OUT BY EARLY MORNING FIRE

Fire shortly after midnight this morning forced several families to temporarily vacate their homes when flames from a hay barn in Vinal square, North Chelmsford, threatened to spread to adjacent property. The barn was owned by James Wotton and contained about 15 tons of hay, all of which was destroyed. The loss is estimated at $1000.

The North Chelmsford fire department answered an alarm and did excellent work in keeping the fire in check. Some furniture was moved out of the flats of Eugene Rodriguez and Charles Kildor, nearby, but later was installed again, when the fire was extinguished.

BREAKING AND ENTERING

AMUSEMENT NOTES

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE
AM of the Various things which go to make up "A Bouquet of Originalities" at the B. F. Keith theatre this week, are good. The dancing, the piano playing, the singing and the acrobatics are of the very best class.

Joseph Downing has certainly collected an admirable company. The Bison City Four, as of old, sweep the audience with their funny work, and the Gullin Twins are youthful dancers who score remarkably. "Pagana," the girl violinist, is uncommonly good, and Mullen & Francis offer a nut comedy. Bollinger & Reynolds open the bill with a wire novelty. The week's picture is "Between Friends," with a superb cast.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE
"Wanderer of the Wasteland," a Zane Grey Paramount production, featuring Jack Holt, Kathryn Williams, Noah Beery and Billie Dove, will play only a few more performances at the Merrimack Square theatre. You've heard about the wonderful colorful photograph in "Ceille B. deMille's 'The Ten Commandments,' but this one is done entirely in colors. There is not a black and white sequence throughout the length of the film. Even if it were not for the great story it really is, you should see this picture just for the novelty of the thing. It is the first really practical all-color production, but it is more than a novelty—it is Zane Grey's greatest story brought to life.

The companion attraction is "The Heart Bandit," starring Viola Dana in the story of "a good bad girl." A comedy and the latest International News complete the bill.

LOEW'S RIALTO
"JUDGMENT OF THE STORM"
A picture for all the world to see! That's "Judgment of the Storm," that will open a week's run at the Rialto commencing next Monday. When you have a mother and son devotedly attached to each other, and then the picture just for the novelty of the thing. It is the first really practical all-color production, but it is more than a novelty—it is Zane Grey's greatest story brought to life.

REMOVING FINGERMARKS
Fingermarks on white or painted furniture may be removed by rubbing with a clean cloth dipped in kerosene, then wiped with a cloth wrung out of hot water.

Dr. True's Elixir

I was nearly discouraged. I was giving my oldest girl something nearly every night, but now I keep a bottle of Dr. True's Elixir handy, and only give it occasionally. I have tried so many things, but now as soon as I see signs of worms I give Dr. True's Elixir.

PROMINENT MEN ARE AGAINST REFERENDUM

BOSTON, Sept. 26.—The Constitutional Liberty League of this city has issued an article strongly opposing the adoption of referendum No. 3, relative to the enforcement of the Volstead act. Among other things the article says:

ACIDS IN STOMACH CAUSE INDIGESTION

Causes Gas, Sourness and Pain. How to Treat.

Medical authorities state that nearly one-tenth of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning, gas, bloating, nausea, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach and not, as some believe, to a lack of digestive juices. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food sours, causing the disagreeable symptoms which very stomach sufferer knows so well. Artificial digestants are not needed in such cases and may do real harm, by laying aside all digestive aids and instead get from any drugstore a few ounces of Bismarck Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quart glass of water right after eating. This weakens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid and there is no sourness, gas or pain. Bismarck Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and is the most efficient form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.—Adv.

The omission of Massachusetts to pass an enforcement law would not abrogate, in any degree, the operation of the federal law. That can be enforced as vigorously as the federal government sees fit to enforce it. It is clear, therefore, that a citizen of Massachusetts who for any reason wishes to vote "No" on referendum 3 will violate no duty to his country in doing so.

The article is signed by a long list of prominent lawyers, ex-mayors and others who have had considerable to do with the enforcement of the law. They are as follows:
Former Attorney General Henry C. Atwell of Lynn.
Former Attorney General Thomas J. Boynton of Boston.
William H. Brooks of Springfield.

HARVARD COLLEGE CLUBS
The Harvard college instrumental club will visit Lowell some time this winter while on a concert tour in New England, the exact date to be fixed later. The announcement is of added interest due to the fact that a local young man, Francis P. O'Donnell of Waltham street, a senior at the college, is leader of the mandolin group.

PLAN OBSERVANCE OF COLUMBUS DAY

At the regular meeting of Lowell council, 72, Knights of Columbus, last evening, plans for the annual observance of Columbus day were made. It was voted to march in a body to St. Peter's church on Monday, Oct. 13, leaving headquarters in Central street at 8:30 o'clock in the morning. Mass will be celebrated at 9 o'clock by the chaplain, Rev. Daniel J. Heffernan. Charles J. Landers, grand knight-elect, made his official appearance before the members at last night's meeting. Retiring grand knight Frank A. Groves handing over the gavel to him soon after the meeting got under way. Formal installation of the new officers will take place in Liberty hall on Thursday, Oct. 3. The principal speaker will be John E. Swift, state secretary of the order.

NEEDLESS ALARM
What was believed to be a fire in the Whistler house in Worthen street yesterday afternoon was responsible for an alarm from box 13 at 5:55 o'clock. On the arrival of apparatus it was found that the smoke seen came from a boiler fire, lighted to rid the house of a disagreeable chill.

ORCHESTRA HOLDS PRACTICE SESSION

The People's Symphony orchestra of this city, an organization of semi-professional players which was formed last season held its first practice session last evening in Middlesex hall under the direction of Philippe O. Bergeron.

Rehearsals will be held every Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock in Middlesex hall, the permanent quarters of the orchestra. It is planned to give a concert sometime in December and Director Bergeron said last evening that he hopes to have all registrations in within the next two weeks that intensive work may be started early in October. The orchestra is not for any special group of people but for any one having a fair amount of natural talent and sufficient training to play the numbers which will be given by the orchestra at its concert.

The civil service commission invites special attention to the fact that in an examination held recently in Lowell and other cities throughout the United States for apprentice fish-culturalist in the bureau of fisheries, department of commerce, applicants were not secured in the number desired, and that this examination will be held again on Oct. 22.

Persons interested in this or other examinations should apply to the secretary of the United States civil service board at the local postoffice for detailed information and application blanks.

Children Cried With Pain. Cuticura Healed.

"My three children suffered with large eruptions that started with a reddish circle about the size of a quarter. Later they formed blisters and broke and itched considerably. FOR INVESTIGATION OF GERMAN ARMAMENTS

GENEVA, Sept. 26. (By the Associated Press.)—General plans for the investigation of German armaments by the council of the League of Nations, as authorized under the Versailles treaty, are now under consideration by the council. The league's permanent commission on military and naval matters has reported a detailed project, one feature of which is that the investigating body may contain some representatives of the states bordering on Germany.

The commission charged with examining the protocol of arbitration and security are proceeding with their work vigorously, being determined to submit the draft to the assembly before the first of next week.

THIRD DAY OF JAIL AUCTION

The third day of the public auction of Lowell jail furnishings began at 1 o'clock this afternoon, with the personal property in the keeper's residence and stable ready for bids. It is believed the sale will end by midnight. A total of 285 lots of furnishings in the jail proper and in the laundry were sold yesterday afternoon, with hundreds of persons present. Good prices were received for laundry equipment, but much of jail property, in-

HAD A WONDERFUL TIME

Third Annual Outing of Lowell Advertising Club Was Big Success

Little, but oh, my. That just about tells the story of the third annual outing of the Lowell Advertising club, held yesterday afternoon at Willow Dale, and attended by about 35 or 40 couples who with the lack of restraint that goes with such an affair cut loose and made a rip-roaring fun fest of all there was to do.

Chairman Bill Bruce swung a mean megaphone that kept events running every minute of the afternoon and his wise cracks kept the non-combatants doubled with mirth. It was a day of surprises, from the opening sporting event when John Moloney won the 100 yard dash against a fast field, through the dinner when the mayor awarded the master prizes of the day to Mrs. James H. Casey and Mr. James H. Casey respectively, until the final moments of the dance when Sam Scott acted as master of ceremonies and shaken up. Men were obliged to recover their partner's shoes, put them on the feet of the fair one and then run with her to the finishing point.

McCaum Pillow Champ. Mark McCaum proved himself the pillow-fighting champion of the club by knocking out all who opposed him. Bill Higgins, Bob Ganley, Leon Mullin, John Moloney, Tom Atkinson, Henry Mulcahy and Bill Ryan were all contestants but they couldn't stand the game.

Mr. and Mrs. Atkinson led the field in the three-legged race, being followed in order by Mr. and Mrs. Nevery and Mr. and Mrs. Cooney. Mrs. Morrill won the balloon race with Leon Mullin a close second.

Leon Mullin's hastily recruited ball team took the count over Mark McCaum's aggregation so easily the scorer quit at the end of the opening frame. The ball game was the last event of the afternoon preceding the bake and the presentation of prizes.

Nevery, first; Miss Gertrude McCaum, second.

Stone throw: Men, Leon Mullin, first; Charles Keyes, second. Women, Rose Jordan Hatfield, first; Mrs. Nevery, second. In this event the winners in both classes hit the floating object with the first stone throw.

Beck of Swell-Suckers. Nipple sucking contests: Mrs. Fred Nevery, first; Charles Keyes, second. In this contest, tonic bottles were capped with nipples and the first person to suck theirs empty was winner.

Leon Mullin was first but he finished so far ahead of the field the judges became suspicious. Investigation disclosed him guilty of cribbing. He bit the end of the nipple off before commencing the contest, so he was disqualified.

Irene Matthews and Mrs. V. L. Morrill of Chelmsford won the snowshoe race for women. Leo Degan and Mrs. John J. Moloney won the shoe race. In this event the shoes of the women folk were all tossed in a sack and

"WELL-TAILORED MAN AN ABOMINATION"

LONDON, Sept. 26.—The well-tailored man is an abomination from the point of view of hygienics, according to a Harley street specialist.

"All tight-fitting, closely woven garments, such as the majority of men wear in town, are unhealthy," he says. "Men wear the wrong sort of clothes and far too many layers of them."

"I should any men would look a great deal younger at 40 than they do now if they adopted a more sensible costume. I don't suggest that men need go about the streets in jumpers, but they might wear more loosely woven tweeds. Waistcoats also could be discarded; they are a social convention of no particular use."

staged a real old-fashioned Virginia reel in which everybody on the premises participated.

"The Prince of Whales"

The burlesqued visit of "the Prince of Whales" and the pony polo game that followed provided one of the hits of the day. Its right to the honor of being the premier attraction being challenged only by the special foot race between Leon Mullin and Mark McCaum. Unlike the polo match the foot race was a tie and had to be settled with a special pillow fight, the result of which is so far undetermined by a jury that is still out. For their efforts, as Bill Bruce said, they won the thanks of the club.

But to get back to the prince, Charlie Keyes, attired in knickers, snappy hat with turn down brim and coat that undoubtedly once served to fit the form of one of Lowell's best coachmen, played the part and did nobly. He was escorted by Leo Degan attired in the last things in women's wear. By last things is meant the last things taken off, not the last things to take on.

Polo Match a Scram

These two, after making appropriate bows decided to hold the fort against the American polo team in a special polo match. A big rubber ball was placed in the centre of the field and the poloists were given stable brooms for clubs. The match started at the whistle of Referee Bruce and provided a good deal of fun.

Henry Mulcahy and Tom Atkinson, looking like two of the original Four Horsemen, represented the American team. One goal was to win and they poked in the tally while the prince's horse refused to steer, nonchalantly walked into the lake for a drink of water, the prince still astride, and his partner, Lord Helpus, gazing at the strange picture in open-mouthed amazement. The horses were loaned for the occasion by Martin Flaherty from his Wamsott riding school and refused to become enthused over such an amateur rider as the prince.

"The Clancy Kid" a Hit

Thomas and John Clancy, four and five years old, gave a four-round sparring exhibition that delighted the crowd. Stripped to the skin and wearing the conventional tight and each the youngsters waded at each other in good style. A miniature ring was erected for the fight and stools, water buckets, timer's gong and all the usual paraphernalia except the black bottle was on hand. James Clancy acted as referee and he declared the contest a tie.

A buffet lunch consisting of chowder, doughnuts, coffee and sandwiches was served upon arrival at the picnic grounds at 1 o'clock. The clambake was served at 5 o'clock. The sports program made the afternoon pass in short order. After the bake prizes were awarded event winners and dancing in the pavilion kept everybody happy until a seasonable hour.

The list of winners in the sports events: 50 yards, men only: John J. Moloney, first; Charles Keyes, second; Bob Ganley, third.

The gentleman shown here in football regalia is a little unaccustomed to his new legs. He is neither Dan Kinsey, famous hurdler, who brought glory to the University of Illinois by breaking a world record in the Olympics, nor is he a member of the team.

Dan is fired with the ambition of being another Red Grange and is practicing with Zuppke's Illinois eleven. He is considered a promising candidate for the backfield. If he does as well as Grange as a player he will be a fitting running mate for the great Grange.

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—(By The Associated Press.)—The brave Pirate ship which steamed up the Harlem, riddled back new, demolished and riddled, a victim of the Giant rocks of Coogan's Bluff which checked another Corsair threat two years ago, today, John McGraw, iron-gray genius of the Giant dugout who stands in an emergency, endows his youthful charges with invincible spirit and tightens their activities into an impenetrable whole, awaits the history-making fourth consecutive pennant which has been twice denied him but which his patched crew of 1924 now have made almost inevitable.

FRANKIE ROSSI GETS DECISION

Britisher Awarded Verdict Over Willie Gradwell in Fast Ten-Round Battle

Tommy Leonard Adds Another K. O. Victory to His List—Other Bouts

For the second time in two weeks a substitute came through with victory when Frankie Rossi of Wales was awarded the decision over Willie Gradwell of Somerset in the main event of the Moody club card in the Crescent rink last night.

Rossi, like Flanagan a week ago, came on at the 11th hour to fill in for Tony Julian, who for the second time withdrew because of an "injured ankle." Rossi had been seen here before and while he had made a most favorable impression, the majority felt he would be easy for the veteran and crafty Gradwell.

But he upset the dope. He carried the fight to his heavier and more experienced opponent and while he encountered stiff opposition in the early rounds, he finally broke through Gradwell's defense and in the closing stages had the better of the milling.

It developed into a great fight. Gradwell found Rossi a difficult target to reach. The Britisher boxed in and crouched position and his artful ducking and dodging forced Gradwell to miss repeatedly. And when Willie counted high or low of the mark Rossi countered with stiff punches to the midriff.

Gradwell's best work was done in the early rounds and he was well out in front at the half way mark. In the 10th round he opened up and over Rossi's right eye. This blow seemed to stimulate Frankie to greater efforts and in the closing sessions he fought bravely to overcome the lead.

Tommy Leonard of Lowell added another K. O. victory to his rapidly growing list when he dropped Frankie French of Charlestown for the count in the fourth. Leonard had knocked his opponent down three times in the third. The local lad was in fine form and he completely outclassed his opponent.

Sailor Munley of Salem lost to Tommy Murphy of South Boston in one of the preliminaries, and Al Stevenson of Lawrence, making his professional debut, was awarded the decision over Johnny Herbert of Lowell in the other.

William H. Sullivan was elected treasurer. The teams in the league are Bellevue, Hatters, Dixie, St. Joe, Marley's, Manhattans, Olympics, Princeton, Richards, Trailers and Whistle Five. Another meeting to complete plans, ratify the schedule, etc., will be held at Marley's restaurant on next Monday evening, Sept. 29.

FRISCH AND HARRIS ARE KEYSTONE KINGS

BY BILLY EVANS
HARRIS, WASHINGTON.—Bats and throws right handed. Is having one of his best years. Managerial duties have in no way handicapped his play. Remarkable fielder. Not a great hitter but always dangerous. Marvel at making double plays. Handy baserunner. Real star.

WARD, NEW YORK.—Bats and throws right handed. Had greatest year of his career in 1923. Has not played up to form this year due to injuries. His absence from game has seriously handicapped the Yankees, breaking up smoothness of infield. Great player when right.

FOURKE, DETROIT.—Bats and throws right handed. Second base has been Detroit's flims. O'Rourke, joining the club during the last two months of season, only player to perform satisfactorily at that position. Is a veteran of 21 years. Has twice before served in majors. Handy player, fine fielder, fair hitter.

FRISCH, NEW YORK.—Bats right or left handed, throws right handed. One of the game's greatest players. Stars in every department of the game. One of the fastest men in baseball. Apparently has a weakness at bat or in the field. Outstanding star at his position.

MARINVILLE, PITTSBURGH.—Bats and throws right handed. Former star shortstop converted into a great second baseman. Is the aggressive type, who seems to do his best work in the clutch. Great fielder, fair hitter, but mighty dangerous in the pinch.

HIGH, BROOKLYN.—Bats left and throws right handed. Clever utility infielder who has played third, short and second with success. Came to majors as third baseman but is doing well at second. Good fielder and average hitter. Having good year at the bat.

PLATING, FRISCH of New York Giants and Harris of Washington have the edge on the rest of the field. Frisch is faster, and a better hitter than Harris, but Harris is more valuable in the field. From a purely playing standpoint Frisch gets the decision. The value of Harris as a manager, however, just about gets him a draw verdict as to all-round value.

SARAZEN IN LATONIA RACE

PROMINENT TENNIS TWO-DAY TOURNAMENT AT VESPER CLUB

CLEVELAND, Sept. 26.—Several of America's foremost tennis players were scheduled to appear on the University club's courts today in the second day's play of the United States Intercollegiate doubles championship. William T. Tilden, 11, paired with Nell Sullivan, as Philadelphia's representative, meets Louis Kuhler, last year's Ohio champion, and Ted Stacey, Cincinnati's team, in one of the three matches on the program.

The opening match will be between Sam Hardy, former Davis cup captain, and Dean Mathey, New York's team, and John Hennessey and Jack McKay, representing Indianapolis.

George Lott, Jr., national junior champion, and Walter Hayes, former city courts titleholder—playing under Chicago's banner, oppose the A. H. Chaplin, father and son, of Springfield, Mass., in the day's final.

Columbus represented by the Werth, well known brothers, Walter and Herman, was eliminated by Harold Gavel, and Henry Wick, Jr., Cleveland, in straight sets in yesterday's only match. Cleveland drew a bye today.

The semi-finals will be played tomorrow and the finals Sunday.

TO EXPEDITE WORK IN PATENT OFFICE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—Secretary Work today announced the personnel of a committee selected to simplify methods of procedure and expedite functioning of the patent office, which as a result of an enormous increase in the patent business during recent years is far behind in its work. A. J. Broussard of the chamber of commerce of the United States was named on the committee with the following members to represent patent law associations: George A. Prevost, Washington; Thomas B. Ewing, New York; Henry M. Huxley, Chicago; Harry Frenke, Cleveland; Milton Tibbitts, Detroit; and J. Bailey Brown, Pittsburgh.

Butler, will overlook many of his faults. However, the thing about Matthews that appealed to the fans was his manner of catching a fly ball. It gave him his color.

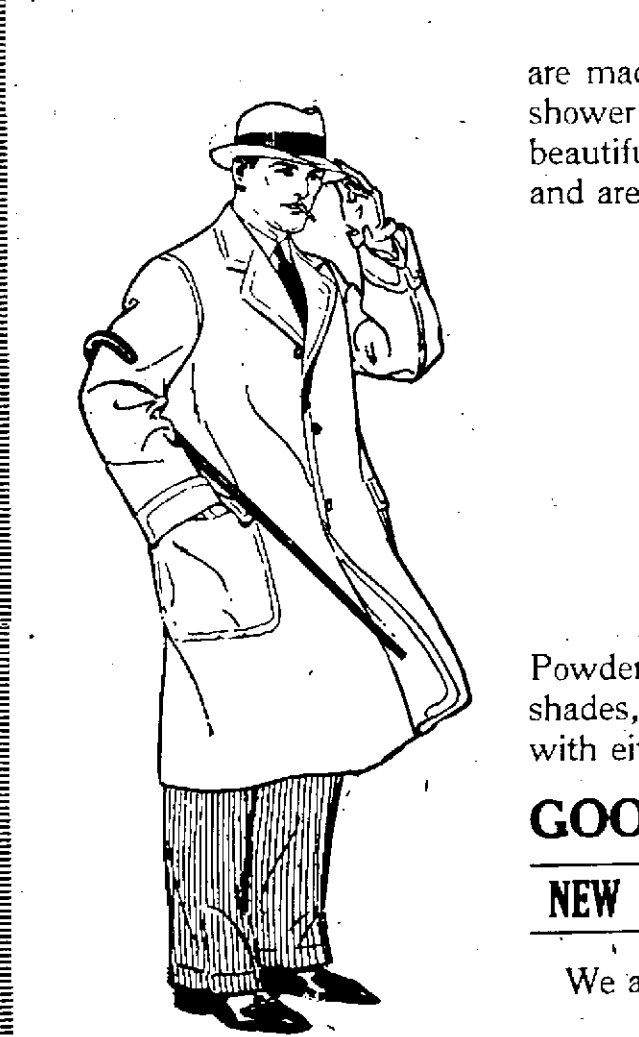

Instead of taking a fly ball after the usual manner of an outfielder, he would cup his hands against his chest or stomach and make a regular pocket for the ball.

For years Matthews, one of the stars of the National league, has caught fly balls in a similar manner. Being an infielder, there wasn't near the thrill to handling a pop fly in that manner as making a great catch of a hard drive to the outfield.

Philadelphia fans fell for Matthews' style. They yelled loudly when Connie Mack let him go. The same thing happened at Washington.

All of which merely proves that fan-lore likes the player who does things differently. It's unique manner of catching a fly ball was Matthews' best asset.

KELLY OUT OF LOWELL LINEUP IN TOMORROW'S OPENER

"PETE" KELLY.
Out of Lowell Lineup

When the Lowell high school football team makes its 1924 debut to the local football public against Nashua high at Alumni field tomorrow, the players will be arrayed in natty new jerseys of red and gray, the official school colors. The design will be a red background with gray stripes fashioned after some of the larger college models.

The largest squad of candidates in the football history of the school is prepared to enter the game against Nashua tomorrow. Yesterday and this afternoon, Coach Liston spent much time in developing a kicker, while Pierotti concerned himself principally with the linemen. In the punting department Fred Vinal has the edge and will start in the fullback position in the opening game. He got off some bonks in practice yesterday and if his line holds, he may be seen to good advantage in a real game.

"Pete" Kelly, veteran backfield man is through with football as far as the high school team is concerned. He was on the field in civies for a while yesterday, but did not don a uniform and the impression is prevalent that he will not be in there this year. The reason for his absence from the lineup is given out as "indisposed."

When Liston lined his probable first string team up against a substitute eleven yesterday, Coach Pierotti played a guard position for a while and was opposed by Sutherland, one of last year's stars. He was greatly impressed with Sutherland's work and had to use most of his All-American talent to hold the big Lowell boy in check.

One of the biggest surprises of this year's new flock of candidates is Austin Broman, the Pawtucketville youth, who has been going great guns as a center and understudy to Jim Heron. He is a hard working and conscientious player, digs his cleats into the ground hard, hits low and emphatically and knows how to handle the platoon. Opposing teams will feel his presence in the coming games.

Nashua comes here tomorrow with a reputation for fast play. Most of her shifts are modelled, it is understood, around Ray Dobens, her flashy captain. If Frankie Heron's men can smother Dobens, victory for Lowell is practically assured.

In anticipation of a most successful season, the high school management has roped off Alumni field and installed portable bleachers along the side lines.

Harris and Bush Deliver As Managers

"DONIE" BUSH AND STANLEY HARRIS, TWO GRIFFITHIAN MANAGERS WHO HAVE SCORED A SIGNAL SUCCESS.

BY HILLY EVANS
Baseball is crammed full of uncertainties. Three years ago Stanley Harris was merely the second baseman of the Washington Nationals. "Donie" Bush played utility roles for the same team. Managerial aspirations were far removed from both. Harris yearned for the day when he would supplant Eddie Collins as premier second baseman of the American league. Bush was content to stick around through his ability to fill in at third, short or second. Clyde Milne, outfielder of the Washington club, managed the team that year. He met with indifferent success and at the close of the season was let out. He had succeeded George McQuinn, who for years starred at shortstop for the Nationals.

Whom would Owner Clark Griffith appoint to supplant Milne? During the winter the air was filled with rumors. Griffith admitted dickering with Chicago for Eddie Collins. The White Sox insisted on getting Stanley Harris in the trade, so there was nothing doing.

Bush a Surprise
The announcement that "Donie" Bush, just the utility man on the club, would manage Washington for 1924, was the biggest baseball surprise of the year. Bush hadn't been fired in the running.

In all probability Bush had as much success with the Washington club last season as any manager would have had. He finished in the first division fourth. No one had really expected more of the club. Then, for reasons that have never been divulged, Bush, who had been figured a success, was released. To succeed him, Griffith named Stanley Harris, his youthful second sacker, still in his twenties.

The appointment of Harris caused as big a sensation as did the selection of Bush. Most of the experts looked for Peckinpaugh to get the job. Some figured the burden of managing the club might ruin the play of one of the game's leading second sackers.

Big things have happened in three years for both Harris and Bush. Harris' Showing Great Harris has been a whale of a success at Washington. The great showing of his team stimulated new interest in the American league race. Bush, deposited at Washington, was made manager of the Indianapolis team of the American Association. It was there that he first gained fame as a player that won for him a chance with the Detroit club, where he starred for years.

Taking a seventh-place club, Bush, has been one, two, three since the start of the season and has a great chance to win a pennant with a club that was never consigned in the running. Looks as if Clark Griffith knew something about the type of player suited for managing, in his selection of Bush and Harris. Both have made good with a vengeance.

EXPECT GREATEST TURF BATTLE ON RECORD

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—Assuming a fast track, a good start and a clear race, experts are predicting the greatest battle in the history of the American turf when Epineard faces the barrier with Ladkin, Wise Counsellor, Zev, and My Own in the second international special over a mile at Aqueduct on Saturday.

Quintions are based on the remarkable victory of August Belmont's Ladkin in the Edgemere handicap last Saturday, a sensational 1.33 mile trial by Epineard on Wednesday and the effort of Zev in the Aversa handicap on the same day.

Wise Counsellor, winner over Epineard in the first international race over six furlongs at Belmont park, has also been working well in practice and must be considered among the possible winners despite the prevalent opinion that the distance will not be to his liking and that a wet track would put him under a disadvantage.

Eugene Leikh, trainer of the French chestnut, was so pleased by the colt's performance in his recent trial that he made his first prediction of victory since coming to the country. The brilliant test also changed the opinion of many race-goers who had believed Ladkin the probable winner.

RAY SCHALK SAYS NEW YORK YANKEES GOOD MONEY CLUB

BY RAY SCHALK
Famous Catcher, Chicago hits Sox

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—New York Americans of September are a better ball club than at any other time this year.

The Yankees, always a good money ball club, are responding to the crisis, doing their best work in the pinch.

About the middle of the season there was a general slump in the play of the Yankees. At that time the pitchers were performing poorly. The club seemed to take on the spirit of the pitchers.

It appeared as if the Yankees as a club figured it was impossible to win a fourth pennant with such inconsistent work on the part of the pitching staff. It really looked as if they were content to finish inside the money.

Coming into the home stretch neck-and-neck for pennant honors, with a great chance to go over for the fourth time, put new life into the Yankees.

Yanks Good Money Club

The lure of the dollar, coupled with the fact that the Yankees have always been good money players, put the winning spirit into the club. The Yanks of September are showing more fight than at any time this year.

The pitching staff has absorbed the spirit of the rest of the team. For weeks Pennock was the only dependable twirler. During the closing stages of the race the entire staff, Joe Bush in particular, has come to life with a vengeance.

Two unusual happenings helped the Yanks in their fight down the stretch. One was the ability of Walter Hehl, a recruit twirler, to show big league stuff.

Hehl performed sensationally in his first three starts. He is credited with winning two games, and although the other contest resulted in a 1 to 3 victory for New York, Hehl pitching seven innings, the victory went to another member of the staff.

Shawkey Does Comeback
George Hildebrand, American league umpire, also, unwittingly helped the pitching staff of the Yankees. Because he persisted in discarding a ball, Hildebrand put Shawkey out of a game, and with it went a 10-day suspension. That rest seems to have given Shawkey a new lease of life. He is as fast as ever and sure to be helpful as the teams go under the wire.

No one questions the ability of the Yankees. Like all clubs that have won several pennants in a row, the Yanks possibly took too many things for granted at the start of the season. A slow start is the handicap the club is working under in the stretch.

In a sense the Yanks might be classed as a careless club. No doubt the members of the team can look back over the season's play and pick out a half dozen or more games that might have been saved by more careful play. An undeserved defeat now and then meant nothing to the Yanks, as they figured they could go out and win when necessary. A club can't always do it.

Big Year for Ruth

Babe Ruth, the star of the club, is having another big year. He has done more than simply clout home runs, excelling in all departments of play. His great work has fired the club over many a slump.

A club with a batting star like Ruth, a club possessing a tremendous punch at the bat, a good defense, and a pitching staff of remarkable ability, is an aggregation that must be feared. Had the five-star staff of the Yankees run true to form, the American league race wouldn't have been such a hectic struggle from start to finish.

The Yanks of September are 25 per cent better than at any other time during the 1924 race. Incidentally good enough to win over any National league club that opposes them, provided the Yanks win.

N. Y. REPUBLICANS NOMINATE ROOSEVELT FOR GOVERNOR

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Sept. 25.—Theodore Roosevelt, of Oyster Bay was nominated for governor by the New York republican state convention here today. The choice was made upon the first ballot. Colonel Roosevelt had a majority over the combined votes for his three competitors, Colonel William Hayward of New York, District-Attorney Gay B. Moore of Buffalo, and Supreme Court Justice Arthur S. Thompson of New York.

The vote was: Roosevelt, 563; Hayward, 187; Moore, 101; Thompson, 134.

CUTTER BRINGS IN FORMER SUB CHASER

NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 25.—The coast guard cutter "Thetis" brought in a former submarine chaser bearing the name "Rose," Marlborough, New York, on her stern which has been left at the government landing in charge of a prize crew. Her own crew of eight or ten men also are on board. It is stated that the vessel was overhauled at sea and is without papers and that she is being held while her status is being looked into. The lettering on her stern is not a finished job and there is an intimation that she is one of the boats which has been missing from the records for some time and which the authorities are now checking up as actual owners and employment.

WATCH OUT OR YOU'LL MISS YOUR TRAIN

Daylight saving time for this year will come to an official end at 2 o'clock next Sunday morning, Sept. 23, when, theoretically, every clock and watch now running on daylight saving time in this part of the country will be set back one hour, to conform to regulation eastern standard time.

Railroad time-tables will continue to be printed according to eastern time, as during the summer, but many trains are to be changed to conform to new working hours. The daylight saving time in the New England roads will become effective generally on Sunday, though in some instances, on Monday.

Lowell railroad commuters will have to get the new time-tables to be sure that they report at the Middlesex station in time for "that Boston train." Several radical changes have been made in the time of the departure of popular expresses and locals departing from the local station daily and Sundays.

The railroad officials announced this

Messenger for Springfield

Bank Fails to Return With Registered Mail

Went to Postoffice Alone to Obtain Consignment of Money

SPRINGFIELD, Sept. 25.—The Union Trust company of this city today reported to the police that $100,000 consigned to it by registered mail was missing. At the same time the bank officials asked the police to seek William J. Hanlin, 45 years old, employed by the bank as a messenger and guard, who also is missing. The police were told that at 8:30 o'clock this morning Hanlin was sent to the postoffice to obtain the consignment of money and was instructed to take another guard with him. He went alone, however, and has not since reported to the bank.

The entire police detective bureau was assigned to the hunt for Hanlin and a country-wide alarm was sent in. Hanlin was considered a highly trustworthy employee.

Postoffice officials said that Hanlin appeared at the postoffice, took the currency by registered mail, which was sent from Boston, received for it, and left. An official of the bank admitted the loss, which he placed at "more than $90,000."

He said that the bank would not suffer as the consignment was covered by insurance.

MRS. SWEETEN TURNS AGAINST HIGHT

MOUNT VERNON, Ill., Sept. 25. (By the Associated Press.)—"I never want to see that man again," Mrs. Elsie Sweeten told her father-in-law, C. G. Sweeten, last night in the jail at Salem, in referring to the Rev. Lawrence M. Hight, at whose suggestion she confessed she poisoned her husband.

"He made me do it. He made me do it," she said over and over again to Mr. Sweeten. Not one harsh word did Mrs. Sweeten say when he met the woman who had confessed she poisoned his son, and her husband, Wilford Sweeten.

AUTO VICTIMS BURIED

Mathew Mara Attends Funeral of His Wife and Three Children

BOSTON, Sept. 25.—Mathew Mara, husband and father of four of the five victims of the accident of Sunday when an automobile broke through a railing into Fort Point channel, buried his dead today, on leave of absence from the tuberculosis hospital where he is a patient.

Four hearse, one black, one gray and two white, followed by a few automobiles, wound through Mattapan, Charlestown, Chelsea and Malden as the cortege moved from the home of Mara's parents to the home which his wife and children left last Sunday; thence to St. Stanislaus church, where services were held, and to Holy Cross cemetery for burial.

At the church where a small gathering attended the services, a single piece of flowers rested on each casket. That of the mother, Mrs. Helen Mara, was at the head of the aisle; the pearl gray casket of Genevieve, a girl of 9 years, was next; and two small white caskets of Elizabeth, 6 years, and baby George, 2 years and 6 months, were in line behind. The father and husband had to be assisted from place to place.

Mrs. Mara and the children rode with Michael Dobrovai, a friend, on Sunday for an outing which ended in their deaths. Services for Dobrovai were arranged separately.

"FLAYS FLAGRANT CORRUPTION OF REPUBLICAN ADMINISTRATION"

Wm. C. Osborn in Address as Permanent Chairman of
N. Y. Democratic Convention Declares if Davis is Elected He Will Be "Neither Cool Nor Cautious"

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 26.—The closing session of the democratic state convention today gave promise of developing into a ratification meeting, to the absence of opposition to the nomination of Governor Alfred E. Smith and his associate elective officers. Not in many years has a state democratic convention been so free from contests.

The day's program called for convening at 11 o'clock standard time, and the formal selection of William Church Osborn as the permanent chairman.

The resolutions committee, headed by Senator James J. Walker, majority leader of the upper house, worked through most of the night putting on the finishing touches of the party platform, for presentation to the delegates. It was understood the document closely followed previous democratic platforms. No opposition to its adoption was anticipated.

Senator William F. Byrne of Albany, was selected to place the name of Governor Smith in nomination. The governor was prepared to go before the delegates and accept immediately.

The officers to be re-nominated in short speeches were: George B. Lunn, lieutenant governor; James J. Thayer, secretary of state; James W. Fleming, comptroller; George W. Schuler, treasurer; Carl Sherman, attorney-general; Dwight B. Ladd, engineer and surveyor.

Selection of presidential electors and adoption of the resolutions completed the program. Names of the electors were submitted to the various county delegations last night for their approval.

Osborn Flays G.O.P.

William Church Osborn of Dutchess county in his address as permanent chairman of the democratic state convention today, attacked what he termed the "flagrant corruption of the republican national administration" and declared that if John W. Davis was elected president he would be "neither cool nor cautious."

Mr. Davis, said he would strike the heavy blows of the true leader, Mr. Osborn said, "His western trip proves that he can charm and draw men to his way, but he is a courageous leader and a winner and his force will bring to accomplishment the principles he advocates."

"The importance of this convention," the chairman said, "lies in the hope that it will continue the magnificent administration of the affairs of this state which we have enjoyed for the last two years and that it will assist in creating conditions which have come to light in Washington. We Americans have never sat easily under corruption at Washington, and, please God, we never will."

"I find it hard to believe," he continued, "that the flagrant corruption of the republican party at Washington will not help at this election the republic which it merits."

"What a contrast between the administration at Washington and at Albany. In the capital of this state there has been a clear-toned integrity throughout the administration; there has been open public dealing with the

TWO ARRAIGNED FOR DRUNKENNESS

Wilfred Lanier rang in a fire alarm last evening for what he thought was a fire in the Whistler house in Worthen street, but when apparatus arrived it was learned that the boiler in the historic mansion was being repaired. Lanier was arrested by Patrolman John Mahan on a charge of drunkenness. The officer stated that defendant had previously sought to summon the fire department by trying in vain to ring in an alarm at a police box. Lanier insisted this morning that he was under the impression that a fire was in progress as he had seen volumes of smoke issuing from the house. The court felt he had made an honest mistake and placed the case on file.

Inquisitiveness on the part of Henry J. Hodge led to his arrest on a drunkenness charge. Patrolman Mahan testified that Hodge approached him at Dutton and Merrimack streets last evening and demanded the officer's reason for standing on the corner instead of patrolling his beat. Mahan requested him to go home, and when he refused, he was locked up. His case was continued for sentence until tomorrow.

NO TRACE OF PLANE REPORTED LOST

COLLASET, Mass., Sept. 26.—Although those who reported that a plane had struck the water and sunk off here yesterday stuck to their story, today officials of the town accepted the opinion of army and navy air officials at Boston that the conditions as reported indicated that the reports were in error. Search had failed to discover any trace. All planes in Greater Boston answering the description given were accounted for, and Mark Hogue, a commercial flier, said he was cruising over Cohasset and South Shore towns about the time of the reported accident yesterday, taking pictures.

Frightened and they told me they would forgive me. I am not to be blamed for what has happened for I married so many times and does not give support to any of them. On account of him I have to take my life away, that will be the same death when I'll jump into the water. I am insured to give me a funeral for my bones. As his life was not good so was his death, what they threatened him with he got. I am not to blame for that."

Nothing has been seen or heard of the woman since she disappeared.

COOLIDGE DENOUNCES FEDERAL OWNERSHIP OF RAILROADS

President in Address at Philadelphia Pleads for Determined Resistance to Encroachments on Constitution—Returns to Washington

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 26.—Speaking last night at exercises commemorating the 150th anniversary of the meeting in Carpenter's hall of the first Continental congress, President Coolidge asked the nation to preserve the authority of the courts and to maintain their control of government and their property rights. He denounced as "unconscionable" and "encroachments upon our rights" proposals for government ownership of railroads and other public utilities.

"Our forefathers," said the president, "were alert to resist all encroachments upon their rights. If we wish to maintain our rights, we can do no less. Through the breaking down of the power of the courts lies an easy way to the confiscation of the property and the destruction of the liberty control. The domination of a group would be so firmly entrenched in the whole direction of our government that the privilege of the majority for the rest of the people would consist largely in the payment of taxes."

Declaring that the constitution was "a device for maintaining in perpetuity the rights of the people, with the ultimate extinction of all privileged classes," President Coolidge declared that whenever the legislative or executive power undertook to overstep the bounds of its limitations, "any person who is injured may resort to the courts for protection and remedy."

"We do not submit the precious rights of the people," he added, "to the hazard of a prejudicial and irresponsible political determination but preserve and protect them by an independent and impartial judicial determination. We do not expose the rights of the weak to the danger of being overcome in the public forum by popular clamor, but protect them in the sanctity of the court room where the still small voice cannot fail to be heard. Any attempt to change this method of procedure is an attempt to put the people again in jeopardy of the impositions and the tyrannies from which the first continental congress sought to deliver them. The only position that Americans can take is that they are against all despotism whether it emanates from a monarch, from a parliament or from a mob."

The president spoke before a large crowd in the Academy of Music.

Returns to Washington

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—President Coolidge faced the remaining stretch of the campaign today, upon his return from Philadelphia, where he spoke last night, with an unannounced program so far as his own plans for participation are concerned.

Two addresses are on the president's calendar now, both to be delivered at occasions here early next month. As to suggestions made to him to accept some of the invitations extended to him to speak in the middle west, Mr. Coolidge recently made it known that he had not changed his previous plans to remain at his desk during the campaign. He will, however, go over plans for the remainder of the campaign with William M. Butler, chairman of the republican national committee, here tomorrow or early next week.

As on his only other visit-away from Washington since being formally notified of his nomination, the president confined his trip yesterday to participation alone in the Philadelphia exercises. He made no stopover either way on the trip there, though crowds had assembled at all stations along the route.

Reaching home shortly after midnight Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge returned to the White House for the night and the president was up early this morning to begin his usual routine of the regular semi-weekly cabinet meeting on the day's calendar.

The rails were torn up for nearly 1000 feet.

WEALTHY LANDOWNER AND FORMER PASTOR KILLS HIMSELF

Rev. Elmer Teagarden Left Note Saying He "Could Resist No Longer an Impulse to Kill Himself That Had Pursued Him For Years"

BREWSTER, N. Y., Sept. 26.—Leaving a note saying he "could resist no longer an impulse to kill himself that had possessed him for years," Rev. Elmer Teagarden, wealthy landowner at Peach Lake and former Methodist pastor at Danbury, Conn., fired a bullet through his brain last night.

Balls of white paper darning merrily from strings hung between two peach trees attracted workmen this morning to the body. It lay in an orchard, near the highway. Before firing the fatal shot, Rev. Teagarden evidently had erected the tolltale paper balls so his body would be found.

He was 62 years old and for many years prior to 1917, he occupied the pulpit in Danbury. Then he came here to the comfort of the exclusively Peach Lake summer colony site. A widow and three grandchildren survive him.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 26.—Retteration of party principles which have been incorporated in the legislative programs of the past four years, combined with a vigorous denunciation of the Ku Klux Klan and demand for modification of the Volstead act to permit sale of light wines and beer were the salient features of the democratic platform adopted at the state convention today.

ROGERS HALL SCHOOL HAS ENROLLMENT OF 104

The 1924-1925 school year began today at Rogers Hall school with an enrollment of 104 pupils, a number slightly in excess of last year's registration. The out-of-town girls arrived yesterday, but classes were not commenced until today when the day pupils also matriculated. About one-third of the young women in school this year are in graduate classes.

This is the 33rd year of Rogers Hall school and it is believed it will be the most successful in history. Extensive alterations have been made in the dormitory buildings, adding greatly to the comfort of students and better opportunities for study. A library room also has been established.

Four hundred thousand workers participated in the opening of the International Trades Union Congress in Vienna.

HIGHT REGRETS POISON PLOT

Appeared to Be Downcast
When He Met His Fellow
Clergymen Yesterday

Mrs. Sweeten on Verge of Nervous Exhaustion—M.
E. Conference to Act

CARDONDALE, Ill., Sept. 26 (By the Associated Press).—The southern Illinois conference of Methodist Episcopal church today was expected to take formal action on the committee report of the investigation of the poison plot, which the Rev. Lawrence M. Hight has confessed caused the death of his wife, Anna, and the husband of his accomplice, Mrs. Elsie Sweeten.

A formal statement similar to the confession made by the minister last Thursday was given to members of the committee by Rev. Mr. Hight when they visited him in the Nashville jail yesterday. He also offered to surrender his ministerial credentials.

The minister appeared to be downcast when he met his fellow clergymen and expressed regret that he carried out the poison plot.

Mrs. Sweeten, in jail in Salem, appeared to be on the verge of nervous prostration. Her condition yesterday was such that she hardly took cognizance of the presence of relatives who called on her to offer assistance. Milk is the only nourishment she has taken since she was brought here last Tuesday.

LOWELL ELECTRIC LIGHT GIRLS' CLUB

The Lowell Electric Light Girls' club, Miss Grace Murphy, president, opened the fall-winter season last evening with a pretty autumn party held at the Highland club. Although the affair was not strictly for the members of the concern, they were in the majority of those present and a general good time was enjoyed by all.

A fine program of entertainment, which included selections by the L.E.L. quartet, Messrs. Harry Priestly, Gerald Mahan, William Comer, Thomas Davidson and Herman A. Faust, and dance music furnished by the L.E.L. orchestra, Herman O. Faust, leader, was enjoyed.

The other members of the orchestra are H. L. Sargent, H. E. Murphy, H. M. Robinson, W. H. Roberts, Paul Halstead, L. G. Matte and H. G. Lyness.

The hall was prettily decorated with ferns and the national colors and made an appropriate setting for the affair. During intermission refreshments were served by the hospitality committee.

Last evening's affair was one of many to be held during the winter months and proved most successful and enjoyable.

GETS MEDAL

"Awarded for Humanity," reads the inscription on the cross bar with gold medal attached, presented last evening to Miss Dorothy Haskell of Chelmsford, who rescued a tiny baby red fox from the clutch of a spring trap in a woodlot near the Jewish cemetery, one day last April, and saved its life.

The medal, presented in person by Agent Charles F. Richardson, of Lowell Humane society, is awarded by the American Humane Education society and the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

The story of the discovery of the infant fox, the treatment of a bruised foot, and also the "bringing up" of the pup as a house pet by its rescuer, was told in a recent issue of The Sun.

RECORD REGISTRATION AT HIGH SCHOOL

A record registration is expected by high school authorities when the evening high school is opened Monday, October 6, and arrangements are being made to care for all who desire to enter the school.

The prediction of a record registration is based on the enrollment recorded last evening, when the first registration session for former pupils who desire to return to the school was held and 165 young men and women made known their intention to return for another year.

This year's registration for the first session is the second highest in the history of the school and is 40 more than last year. The largest first night registration was in 1920, when 166 were registered.

Another registration session for former pupils will be held this evening at the school office between 7 and 9 o'clock. Persons desiring to enter the school this year for the first time may register at the high school next week on Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday evenings from 7 to 9 p. m.

Waist and Hips Reduced Quickly With Madame X Girdle

Safest, healthiest way to reduce! The amazing Madame X Girdle massages away excess fat almost before you know it. The instant you put it on, you look inches thinner and years younger. Gives you at once Fashion's trim, straight, boyish lines.

THE marvelous scientific Madame X Reducing Girdle improves your appearance immediately and reduces your waist, hips, thighs and abdomen "almost while you wait." The instant you put it on, the bulky fat on waist and hips seems to vanish, the waistline lengthens and your figure becomes erect, graceful, youthfully slender! And then, with every step you take, with every breath, the fat is met by new live rubber which gently massages it away—though you hardly know you have the girdle on. Most women lose one to three inches the very first week and thousands have lost from seven to ten inches in a remarkably short time!

Physicians Endorse It

The Madame X is the safest, surest, healthiest way to reduce. In principle it is endorsed by reputable physicians everywhere, not only for its reducing action but because of the support it gives the figure. It is made of dry-heated rubber (the same kind used by famous athletes for faithful reducing) and is based on scientific massage principles that have caused reductions of 5, 10, 20 pounds and more. Only live uncured rubber can grip the fat and give a genuine massage. Strong—durable—the new way of reinforcing eliminates all danger of splitting or tearing. No more protruding abdomen—no more fat, bulky hips!

Worn Over the Vest
The Madame X fits as smoothly and snugly as a kid glove, and is so constructed that it fits right into the figure and catches and gently massages every inch of the surface continually. Worn over the undergarment as a corset—huskiness attached.

Encircles the hips and thighs as well as the abdomen and holds them in. Comes well up over the diaphragm and supports the muscles of back and sides, helping prevent fatigue. Front cut-out insures perfect comfort while you sit, work or play. Special lacing in the back makes it easy to adjust as you become more slender.

Leading Actresses Wear It

Step into the Madame X Girdle and you will readily see why so many prominent actresses are so enthusiastic about it. You can wear stylish, becoming clothes at once! It gives you immediately the smooth, straight, unbroken lines that add so much to the appearance—and absolutely insures your remaining slender. Thousands of slender women wear the Madame X solely for its wonderful comfort.

So great is the popularity of the Madame X that one of New York's largest stores was recently forced to throw open a whole new department to handle the crowds.

See the Madame X Reducing Girdle for yourself. Get a fitting today.

GILDA GRAY

the famous dancer and Ziegfeld Follies star is enthusiastic about the Madame X. She says:

"The Madame X corset does all that is claimed for it and more. It is really a reducing corset that reduces, and so easily and comfortably worn, it is a joy as well as a benefaction." (signed) GILDA GRAY up the naval post he has held since the beginning of the administration. Although he was understood to have been urged by cabinet associates not to do so until at least the end of the year, he believes the campaign should receive his full attention.

There had been no indication today as to what action the president would take in the appointment of a successor to Mr. Roosevelt. The duties of the office, in a vacancy, devolve upon Admiral Eberle, chief of naval operations.

Demonstration For Roosevelt

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Sept. 25.—Theodore Roosevelt, the republican nominee for governor of New York state, went forth from the convention, that nominated him yesterday to the accompaniment of an enthusiastic demonstration.

The Roosevelt victory—almost equally a victory for United States Senator James W. Wadsworth, who managed the Roosevelt pre-nomination campaign—came after relentless but divided opposition had failed to cut down the majority block of votes which Senator Wadsworth had claimed for his candidate from the first. The Roosevelt claims were vindicated on the first ballot with 62 votes to spare. Conference among convention leaders during a three-hour recess resulted in a single ticket to run with Colonel Roosevelt, which was adopted with a unanimity that amounted to acclamation when it reached the convention floor, as follows:

Lieutenant Governor, Seymour Lowman, Elmira.

Secretary of State, Mrs. Florence E. S. Knapp, Syracuse.

Comptroller, Vincent B. Murphy, Rochester.

Treasurer, Lewis H. Founds, Brooklyn.

Attorney-General, Albert Ottlinger, New York.

State Engineer and Surveyor, Royal C. Finch, Albany.

Mrs. Knapp is the first woman candidate for office nominated on a republican ticket in New York state.

Martin reported that he saw Hanifin

He said that when he saw Hanifin the messenger was carrying a paper-wrapped parcel corresponding to the one given him at the Springfield post-office registry department yesterday morning, containing the shipment of money from Boston and New York national banks to the Union Trust company.

INCREASE IN WAGES

Service Board Recommends More Pay for Water Department Employees

An increase in wages for firemen in the water department from the present rate of $32 a week to the minimum union rate, $39.50, was recommended by the public service board at a regular meeting last evening. The salary of Patrick Lyons, emergency machinist of the water department, was increased from $36.50 to $40 by the vote of the board.

The meeting followed public hearings on a number of street acceptance, sidewalk and sewer petitions, and was called to order at 8.30 o'clock by Chairman Murphy with all members present.

President Christopher C. Cox of Local 14, International Union of Plumbers and Others, headed a delegation of four union members, and requested for the water department firemen an increase from $32 to $39.50.

Chairman Murphy asked the delegation members why they came at election time and said he disapproved of persons seeking increases just when it is time for a municipal election.

Mr. Cox said that the fact that election time was at hand hadn't entered into the union members' thoughts at all.

Supt. Gardner of the water works was asked his opinion of the request and went on record as favoring an increase. Upon his recommendation, Mr. Lyons moved and it was voted to recommend to the mayor that the increase as requested be given.

Mr. Lyons moved that the salary of Patrick Lyons, emergency man and machinist in the water department be increased from $36.50 to $40. Mr. Murphy favored the motion and it was carried unanimously.

A petition of F. J. Murphy to maintain a lunch cart at Fletcher and Broadway streets was returned to the city council with no objections entered by the board.

Councillors Chadwick and Genest appeared before the board seeking street repairs in their districts.

A communication from the Foster Grain company regarding the dangerous condition of Jackson and King streets was referred to the superintendent of streets.

A communication from Councillor Chadwick concerning the seizure of a small lot of land at Gorham and Carlisle sts. was discussed and it was voted to hold a hearing on the matter at a later date.

The petitions heard by the board and the board's action follow:

That a sewer be laid in Farragut street. Tabled.

For extension of a sewer in Winthrop avenue. Voted.

For extension of a sewer in Bradstreet avenue. Voted.

For a sewer in Shes street. Voted.

That Warren street be accepted. Deferred.

That the following streets be accepted: Usher, Jordan, Alma, West Forest, Haines avenue. Referred for plan and profile.

That edicostes be laid in the following locations: Gorham street, in front of Edson cemetery, St. Albert street, Varnum avenue from 253 to 280, 19 Lyon street, 529 Lakeview avenue, westerly side of Dunfee street, 1334-1392 Gorham street, 162-161 Walker street, St. Harris avenue, Fairland road, 32-31 West Forest street, Sherman street at the corner of Pleasant street. All of the above were voted.

That Millthreth street and Talley avenue at the northwesterly intersection of said streets be widened. Voted.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS
by Olive Roberts Barton

THE SOUR OLD WOMAN UNDER THE WATER-FALL

"COME RIGHT IN, ALL OF YOU," SAID SHE.

Nancy and Nick and the Sand Man left the house of the kind Green Wizard in the treetops and went toward the house of the Sour Old Woman Who Lived Under the Water-Fall.

"Tap, tap, tap!" they went on, her front door.

The Sour Old Woman herself opened it.

"How do you do?" she said sourly.

"What do you want?"

"We came to get my bag of sleepy sand," said the Sand Man. "Someone stole it."

"Well, I can't help that, can I?" said the Sour Old Woman.

"Maybe not," said Nick. "But you can help us. It's time for all the babies to go to sleep and they can't unless the Sand Man finds his bag of sleepy sand. We just came from the Green Wizard's house and we looked into his magic gazing ball."

"What's that?" shouted the Sour Old Woman. "What's all this about a magic gazing ball? What did you see?"

"We saw Tweedledee come to your house and put the magic sand under the floor," said Nick.

At that the Sour Old Woman smiled a sour smile and opened her door wide.

"Come right in, all of you," said she. "I just wanted to see how smart you were. Of course Tweedledee stole the sleepy sand. He loves to tease the babies, the rascal, and he has always been jealous of the Sand Man. You'll find the bag of sand right here."

She lifted a loose board in the floor and pointed down to the cellar.

"Jump down and get it," she said.

Down jumped Nancy and down jumped Nick and down jumped the Sour Man.

But no sooner had they all jumped down into the Sour Old Woman's cellar than she let the board fall down into its place again, and there they were!

"Goodness!" said the Sand Man. "Here's the sleepy sand all right. But much good it does me when I can't get out."

"Don't worry," said Nancy. "We have our magic shoes."

"That's right!" said the Sand Man in a relieved voice. "You and Nick can get out in fine shape. But I can't."

"Why?" asked Nick. "Haven't you any magic shoes?"

"Lots," said the Sand Man. "But somebody will have to stay here and make a noise to fool the Sour Old Woman, or she'll know we have gone. It's two o'clock now and time for afternoon naps."

"I have a plan," said Nancy all at once. "Nick and I can take the sleepy sand and sprinkle it around while you stay here. Then we'll come back and get you."

"That's a fine idea," said the Sand Man.

So the Twins took the bag of sleepy sand and away they went right through walls and everything in their magic shoes. And it wasn't long until all the babies were asleep. The world was very, very quiet.

But the poor Sand Man was tired. He had had a hard day traveling all the way from Shut-Eye Town, where he lived, and with his hay-fever and everything, he was worn out.

And instead of stamping around to fool the Sour Old Woman, he fell asleep.

RAINY DAY WORK

When rainy days prevent outside activities, the careful housekeeper will clean bureau drawers, china closets, chests or trunks.

OPENING OF SELF SERVICE SHOE STORE

An innovation in the shoe store business locally is the new Self Service Shoe store opened today at 25 Central street. In recent years self service grocery stores and restaurants have been opened but this latest development of the self service idea is one which will be welcome to both patrons and clerks in stores. The Lowell branch is one of six stores now being operated in various cities throughout Massachusetts and Rhode Island.

Price and the novel idea of service are the outstanding features of the new business organization here. Quality shoes at the right prices, displayed on tables, make it easy for the purchaser to pick out the shoes desired and fit themselves, thereby eliminating much fuss and bother, the result of long waits in a shoe store while the clerks attend to three or four customers at one time.

The shoes range in price from $1 to $4.50, this low price being made possible through the self service idea. All makes of shoes are on display at the new store in Central street and include the latest in the line of fashionable footwear.

Even at this early date the new Self Service Shoe store is finding favor with the local public, this conclusion being drawn from the large number of prospective purchasers who visited the store during the day.

The management wishes to announce that whether or not you wish to purchase a pair of shoes you are welcome to walk in and give the place the once-over and thereby be convinced that the self service way is the way to buy shoes.

POLICEMAN AND PRINCESS

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—Policeman Jack McIntyre has smiled his way into a sort of fairy tale in which there dwells a lovely princess and a millionaire, and in the background there is a drop curtain of palaces and playgrounds such as might have been fashioned by Maxfield Parrish.

To "Smiling Jack," as he is internationally known, there has come an adventure such as O. Henry loved to write about—another Bagdad-on-the-Subway tale in which circumstances twist about to whisk someone away on a magic carpet.

It might have been named "The Policeman and the Princess," for smiling Jack is to be the guest of the Princess Xenia, of Greece, and her millionaire husband, William J. Leeds, Jr., son of the famous tin plate magnate.

Knows Them All

This is the way it came about: For ten years Policeman Jack McIntyre has been bluecoat at the Cunard pier. In this capacity he has seen the world come and go. He has met the notables of Europe, the merchant princes, the traveling school teachers—he has seen men arrive in de luxe cabs and return in steerage. He has met actresses, salesmen, tourists—the whole cross section of life.

He is a veritable human "Who's Who." He knows practically everyone who travels.

And upon them all he has smiled either congenially, humorously or sympathetically.

"You see," he explains, "they're all human. Their names may sound foreign. I've noticed that they like to get out of role, as they say on the stage. They like to relax. I've heard some of the biggest men and women burst into slang and even use bad English just to relax from the parts they have to play in holding their positions or stations. Underneath they're pretty much all alike. You've got to meet them though to appreciate it."

And "Smiling Jack" has met them all. He has given them a handshake and a smile. When a headstrong left, he has chatted with them congenially and he has made many friends.

Such social intercourse has resulted in a simple philosophy based upon congeniality. Policeman McIntyre's residence is decorated with illustrations reading "Keep Smiling." There is one on the mirror, another faces the bed and there are more on the trunks that he and the Mrs. will take with them. He has written it on his face as he stood at the gangplank. But had you told him he would carry it in his arm, for a six weeks' European jaunt with a princess as his hostess he would have searched your hip pocket.

Goodbye America!

Yet that's just what happened. For several years he has met young Leeds as the millionaire came and went from Europe. A mutual liking resulted and when Leeds and his bride, the former Princess Xenia, returned from abroad an invitation was issued the policeman and his wife to be their guests on a tour of Europe.

"And it couldn't have come at a better time," smiles the officer. "You see the wife hasn't been in very good health and needs a sea trip. Things come out this way somehow."

"The princess is a very wonderful woman," he continued. "She has the reserve and dignity of her aristocratic past, but once you meet her she is very pleasant. As I've said, they are all human. Only she seems to delight you hate to shake hands for fear of breaking something."

So its palaces and playgrounds for "Smiling Jack" and his missus in this modern fairy tale.

MANSLAUGHTER CASE IN JUVENILE COURT

Joseph R. Jodoin, 16, of Woonsocket, R. I., driver of the automobile which struck and killed 6-year-old Dorothy Gilman of Haverhill street, Dracut, Wednesday afternoon, was arraigned before Judge Bright in juvenile court this morning on a charge of manslaughter. The case was continued to Oct. 3 with bonds fixed at $2000.

IMPROVEMENTS IN TELEPHONE BOOK

Delivery of the New Lowell district telephone directory was started Wednesday. Manager Leathers of the telephone company says that the work of putting the new book into the office or residence of every subscriber will be completed in a few days.

Two changes have been made in the directory. The names of all individuals or business concerns that are listed in the new book are printed in a full name. The names of the office or residence of every subscriber will be completed in a few days.

Another welcome innovation is the inclusion in the new book of a Lowell classified telephone directory. These classifications include only subscribers to business service at business rates or office associates of such subscribers who have a listing in the alphabetical section and pay $5 annually for each classified listing.

The foot-note advertising, which heretofore has been printed at the bottom of the alphabetical section, has been removed in the new book and all advertising appears in the classified section.

The book not only gives the listings of all Lowell subscribers, but the listings of subscribers in Billerica, Burlington, Chelmsford, Dracut, Dunstable, North Wilmington, Pelham, N. H., Tewksbury, Tyngsboro, Westford and Wilmington.

PAWTUCKETVILLE SOCIAL CLUB

A regular meeting of Pawtucketville Social club was held last evening in the club rooms in Moody street with President Alphonse Fortier in the chair. Applications for membership were received and referred to the membership committee. Messrs. Gellman, Gervais and Boudreau discussed the matter of enlarging the present quarters but no definite action was taken. Messrs. Louis P. Turcotte, Alphonse Fortier and Alphonse Desrosiers were named as the club's committee to the conference of Franco-American societies which is to be held next Sunday evening in the Court St. Antoine clubrooms under the auspices of the Comité Permanent de Naturalization. Following the meeting an interesting talk on registration was given by Albert Bergeron, who announced that registration classes will be opened on Oct. 6 at the C.M.A.C. and the following day at the Pawtucket school.

Finds for Plaintiff

of Mrs. Julia H. F. Burd of Saratoga Springs, N. Y., sister of Mr. Plisko, who brought suit to recover the difference between what the trustees required her interest in the property for and the fair value of the same.

In finding on the facts that a decree may be entered for the plaintiff, Judge Sanderson does not specify the amount of money involved and set forth that unless the parties agree within 20 days from the filing of the finding of facts on the amount with which the defendants are chargeable upon an accounting, a master may be appointed to hear the parties and state the account.

Atty. William D. Regan, representing Mrs. Burd, said today that the amount of money involved is in the vicinity of $20,000.

Judge Sanderson finds that Mrs. Burd for many years before June 29, 1923, owned of an undivided half interest in the property and that on that date she sold this interest to the defendant, Robbins and Ellis, for the inadequate sum of $51,304.90.

The case went to trial before Judge Sanderson at East Cambridge on Sept. 2 and was concluded on the 11th. Edward Fisher represented the defendants.

at Detroit, was sunk with her crew and cargo of stone.

The owners of the Clifton base their hope on the fact that none of the reports or news, or any wreckage from the Clifton has been sighted by the scores of steamers plying Lake Huron, or boats sent out to search.

Reports that the Clifton put in at East Tawas and Osceola, Mich., on Sept. 10, 1923, were refuted. The steamer Cadillac, which passed East Tawas while down-bound on the west coast, reported late last night that she saw nothing of the vessel.

Lake men ridiculed reports that she had put in at Osceola, declaring that the Clifton drew 20 feet of water and it was impossible for her to have entered that harbor.

The last reliable information came from Mackinaw, where the Clifton was reported passing Sunday morning, after she sailed from Sturgeon bay for Detroit. The only other information as to her whereabouts was in press despatches.

The Clifton, formerly the Samuel Mather, was commanded by Captain Edmund D. Gallagher, St. James, Mich. She was built in 1902 and had a capacity of 3500 tons.

FAVOR HOLLYWOOD BE-CAUSE OF OUTDOOR LIFE

BY JACK JUNGMEYER

N.E.A. Service Writer

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 24.—Golf, while only remotely related to movie making, may be the decisive factor in the production tug-of-war between Hollywood and New York.

Many prominent picture players are ardent golfers. Deny them indulgence of the ancient and honorable sport and they are unhappy. For these, Hollywood with its easy access to a dozen greens, is preferable over Gotham.

"If you enjoy playing 18 holes several times a week and prize a low score," says Kenneth Harlan, who has just returned from New York, where he was "marooned" several months by all means stay in southern California.

The actor's advice to his fellows might be considered lightly were it not that it links with weightier reasons why several producers who would have deserted Hollywood for New York met with such stiff opposition from all classes of studio workers, including even the highest priced stars.

Actors and technical workers, with few exceptions, have become habituated to outdoor life and sports that may be indulged in the year 'round. They are southern Californians.

Kenneth Harlan, who is New York bred, wasted not an hour in departing for Hollywood after completing his featured roles for the Whitman-Bennett productions, "The Man Without a Heart" and "Two Shall Be Born." This despite the fact that he was receiving a higher salary there than he gets in Hollywood and that he had even better offers to stay for more pictures.

"Two pictures in New York were enough for me," he said. "Not because I didn't like the pictures and all who were connected with them, but living and working conditions in New York, as compared with those in Hollywood, are almost insufferable."

"It took an hour to get from my hotel to the studio, and longer to get back at night. Motion picture hours are long enough even when one can live within 15 minutes' drive from studios in Hollywood."

"Then the expense of maintaining an auto, indispensable to the actor's business, is anywhere from a half more to double what it is in California. And the necessity of using crowded ferries and bridges to get to country locations in Jersey or 'up state' adds to the nerve-racking waits and delays."

"Give me California, where a man can get proper recreation every day."

The loss of half a day in New York to get to golf links comparable to any of a score within 15 minutes' drive from the heart of Hollywood is most aggravating. At home here I can play nine holes every morning before reaching the studio at nine o'clock.

"All work and no play makes Jack a very dull boy, even in motion pictures."

Because of increased cost of living, the actor cannot afford to work in New York except at a figure considerably higher than the Hollywood "scale." Add to this expense factor the positive disinclination of the player accustomed to outdoor freedom in the west to relinquish that freedom, and you have a compelling reason why southern California will remain the popular production field, says Harlan.

COLORS

Every new shade that Fall has sponsored is represented although the most popular Dress color is Black and next to that Brown and Green. The wool Dresses show some new shades of Brown touched with reds which are really variations of the older Rust shade.

Satin is the fabric of first choice among the silks and its sheen is everywhere apparent. Black and russet are its favored shades. Buttons, buttons everywhere and never one for use. They are chief among the trimmings for Fall with tassels and embroidery crowding them for the leader's place.

STYLES

The Mandarin is the clever variation of the straight-line mode that makes a place of outstanding importance among Fall Frocks. Coat-style Frocks are most popular in the wools and interpret the tailored mode with subtle success.

Resinol

Perhaps the daily shave makes your sensitive skin burn and smart, or it may cause a rash which is uncomfortable and embarrassing. RESINOL Ointment helps greatly to relieve and clear away such ailments, but RESINOL SHAVING STICK tends to prevent them entirely. Its rich, generous, non-drying lather makes shaving a pleasure because no after-shaving lotions are necessary, and the face is left smooth, cool and soft. Resinol products at all druggists.

OUT OUR WAY

IN NEW YORK

By Stephen Hannagan

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—Mulberry street. Down on the East Side. Where the kiddies use the sidewalk for a school skit. A medley of odors, rasping to alien olfactory organs. Tenement houses, with refuse receptacles on the front floor stoop. There are no alleys.

Grimy-faced children, reared in defiance to all rules of sanitation, are healthy, happy and industrious.

Street peddlars. Offering fruit of the season. And bananas are plentiful. Fish, displayed in running water. Smoked meats. A sleepy cat guarding them. Socks and gals pluck stockings. A pair and a half for 45 cents. Signs from 2 to 5 cents a piece. I wouldn't want scrambled eggs unless I had a dime.

Cigars made while you wait. Long and black and treacherous looking. Bedding airing on the fire escapes. Drowsy women hanging out of third story windows, lazily gazing at the bedlam beneath. Contentment in a quar.

Traffic policemen at every block. Poker faces and slant, peering eyes. They direct the constant ebb and flow of vehicles and pedestrians unconsciously. Their thoughts are on other things. Desperate criminals in this area.

Salesmanship at its height. One of three young men approach me. "Stranger down here, eh?" he queried. "Whenever you want any booze call me," he continued. I took his card and promptly lost it. Wouldn't want to get caught with that in my wallet.

try of the church was prettily arranged with cut flowers and greenery, while the corner devoted to those in the receiving line was arranged as a bower from which was suspended a huge wedding bell. The members of Haverford, Pa., daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Parker.

As the bridal party left the church Mr. Spalding played the Mendelssohn wedding music. The bride wore white satin with the Ladies' Aid society of the church presented Mrs. Lindgren a beautiful bouquet of roses. The ladies of the church served refreshments during the evening and an enjoyable program was given. Among the guests were Rev. P. B. Nordgren, Rev. Mr. Bruno, Edward Anderson and Alfred Swanson. The affair last evening was under the direction of Mr. Birger Peterson, Mr. Nils Dellgren and Charles Anderson.

Hockmeyer-Stover

Mr. Victor F. Hockmeyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Hockmeyer of Holyroth Avenue, and Miss Lucy Charlotte Stover, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Stover, of 205 Nesmith street, were united in marriage last evening in St. Anne's Episcopal church. The ceremony was performed at 7 o'clock by the rector, Rev. Appleton Grannis, in the presence of a large gathering of relatives and friends. Attractive decorations of lilies, white girdoli and palms and ferns enhanced the beauty of the chancel and altar. The bride entered the church on the arm of her father. The Lohengrin wedding procession music was played by Arthur C. Spalding. The bridal party was made up of Mrs. Stephen H. Scribner, sister of the bride, as maid of honor, and Miss Alice Scott of St. Louis, Miss Martha Hollister of New York city, Miss Katharine Carroll of Chicago and Miss Eleanor Whitford of Nutley, N. J., as bridesmaids. The best man was Mr. Elmer E. Hockmeyer, brother of the bridegroom, and the ushers were Mr. Penhallow Whitehouse of Portland, Me., Mr. Robert Parker of Haverford, Pa., Mr. Alexander Cameron, Jr., of Westford and Mr. P. W. My Beauty

Is all due to beauty helps

By Edna Wallace Hopper

I was a plain girl with little distinction. I made myself a famous beauty. Now, after 35 years as a stage star, I remain a beauty still. The thousands who see me daily on the stage know that I took 10.

When I was a girl, my rich mother took me on a world search for the supreme beauty helps. Those helps made me famous. Since then I have kept in touch with every new discovery. I have made many trips to France. So what I was and what I am are due to scientific help.

Now women have convinced me that I should share these helps with others. Millions of girls and women want what I have gained. So I have combined all the helps I have discovered in four preparations, with 52 ingredients. And I have arranged so that all druggists and toilet counters offer them to all who wish.

One is a liquid cleanser which I call my Facial Youth. Little Lantelme, the famous Parisian beauty, first told me what it did. Now great beauty experts the world over are advising this formula. No other cleanser which man has discovered does what this cleanser does.

My Facial Youth contains no animal, no vegetable fat. It cannot in any way assimilate with the skin. It simply cleans to the depths, then departs. All the grime, dead skin and clogging matter comes out with it.

That is the first beauty essential—an utterly clean skin. But I never dreamed what a clean skin meant until I found this Facial Youth.

Now Edna Wallace Hopper's Facial Youth is supplied by all druggists and toilet counters. The cost is 75c. Write me for my Beauty Book and I'll send with it something else to please you. Edna Wallace Hopper, 336 Lake Shore Drive, Chicago. Adv.

court train, and the lace veil which her grandmother had worn at her wedding and which also had been worn by her mother and sister, Mrs. Scribner, at their weddings. The veil was crowned with orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of roses, lilies of the valley and orchids. The bridesmaids each wore shell pink children and carried blue delphinium and pink asters. The maid of honor wore a gown of hydrangea blue chiffon and also carried delphinium and asters, with blue predominating. Old-fashioned bouquets were carried by the flower girls, who wore white organdy dresses.

Brilliant indeed was the social function at the reception held after the ceremony at the Stover home in Nesmith street. Extensive floral decorations were of marked beauty, with girdoli, ferns, lilies, palms, and amylax being used artistically in all of the rooms. Hundreds of guests attended the reception, including many from distant points. In the receiving line with the bride party were the bride's and bridegroom's parents. Dancing followed the reception and an elaborate buffet luncheon was served by the Page company. Mr. and Mrs. Hockmeyer will live in Montclair, N. J., at the conclusion of an extended wedding trip.

reproducing here, even with government aid. For instance, on the Argentine-Brazilian border he'll see Iguazu falls. They're higher and wider than Niagara. The gorge they empty into is deeper than Niagara's, too.

This gorge in turn empties into the River Parana. Nearly every year, during high water, the Parana backs into the gorge and fills it clear to the top, so that, for the time being, there are no falls.

Imagine Director Mather getting Lake Ontario to back into the Niagara river until the falls disappeared.

If Jim Couzens wins in November, as he won in the Michigan senatorial primaries, it must be investigation of prohibition, in connection with his treasury inquiry, will go the limit.

Even beaten, he will have, as a lame duck, until March 4, 1925, to go on with his work, but most of the day will be taken out of it. But if he's re-elected, he'll have the increased prestige of endorsement by the voters of his state.

In spite of everything, the other congressional investigations will back, after election, something of the jazz which characterized them before the houses adjourned. Then everybody was interested in the effect they might have on the 1924 campaign. When they're resumed—such as are resumed—the next election will be a long way ahead.

Prohibition, however, is non-partisan, with an interest all its own.

Although America isn't in on the pending international arbitration negotiations at Geneva, the Washington government keeps an eye on them.

England's statement of the terms on which she's willing to accept compulsory arbitration has "rather stunned" officials here. Compulsory arbitration is all right, the English say, but it mustn't apply to anything their navy does in attempting to keep or restore peace.

The Washington official impression is that this leaves considerable latitude for interpretation and it's all England's latitude—whatever interpretation she puts on her navy's duties, other countries will have to agree to.

However, being no party to the negotiations, America hasn't anything to say about it.

GAVE ENTERTAINMENT IN CHURCH VESTRY

The members of the primary department of the Calvary Baptist church school gave an enjoyable entertainment in the lower vestry of the church last evening before a large and interested audience. "The Crowning of Columbus," a patriotic play was the feature of the evening. A musical program was also given as well as several readings. Miss Carrie Stewart directed the playlet while Miss Helen Craig was at the piano. The members of the cast were as follows: Edna Gordon, Parker Gillespie, Isabel Holmes, Winona Curvey, Dorothy Haddock, Mary Burnett, Celeste Fitch, Mary Murphy, Eunice Fitch, Betty Chambers, Margaret Curley, Alpheus Smith, Arthur Pearl, John King, Everett Morrill, Harriet Burnett, Robert Deebold, Thelma Lee, Myrtle Butler, Marjorie Holmes, Jessie Wheeler, Jr., Betty Rogers, Raymond Riddick, Archie McCall, Phyllis Simpson, Rhoda Paul, Ruth Sampson, Phyllis Algrove, Doris Christensen, Gladys Sigmondson, Eleanor Stewart, Arlene Heald, Doris Kay, Edward Calkins, Albert Haddock, Howard Bixby, Edgar Kay, Margaret Enger, Mary Holmes, Arlene Warnock, Mava Gordon, Phyllis Spaulding, Marjorie Curley, Hamilton Page, Samuel Bell and Donald Stewart.

The other numbers on the program were: Violin solos by Eugene Morrill, vocal duets by Maves Mava Gordon and Mary Burnett, readings by Miss Helen Fish, solos by Mrs. Earl Stevenson, and an enjoyable wax doll drill given by the Misses Mary Burnett, Phyllis Simpson, May Curley and Mava Gordon. Miss Edna Gordon and Mrs. A. J. Laverne were the accompanists.

WOMEN'S PART IS MYSTERY OF ELECTION

By HARRY D. HUNT
N.E.A. Service Writer
WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—How much do women really care about politics? That's what the party dopesters are wondering about. They figure the first genuine test will come this fall. Women had the franchise four years ago but it had only just been given to them and there wasn't time enough before election for much of an effort to get their full vote out.

This campaign a very vigorous effort is being made.

That a few women are interested there's no question. Those engaged in the woman's work of the campaign are as enthusiastic as any of the brethren.

But the rank and file? Party managers speak very confidently of the feminine support they expect their various tickets to get, but the fact is they don't know, can't even guess.

It's possible for more women's votes to be cast than men's. There are more women in the country. A good many men are indifferent. The ballot's no novelty to them. Women, to whom it is a novelty, may get a "kick" out of casting it for just that reason.

Or maybe they haven't generally been educated up to an interest in politics yet.

The next three or four weeks will tell the story. Registration will be about finished then. If women don't register they can't vote. If they do register, it's fair to assume most of them will be on hand at the polls.

Director S. T. Mather of the National park service is going to South America to look over the country for ideas worth adopting in this country. He may see some things he'll have trouble

Numerous race track families allied with Lowell Driving Club, burned up the roads to Groton yesterday afternoon, to see the first day's card of trotting and pacing provided as a star feature of the opening of Groton's three-day fair at Hazel Grove park. The harness events were exciting and the grand stand and villa were crowded with men and women eager to see the races billed in four classes.

Lowell horses first appeared in the 2:12 mixed race, purse $300, Manlyso, Daigle's bay stallion, taking three firsts in four heats, though hard pressed by Lee Grande, Peter Hall, a black gelding, entered by Burns of Concord, came in third on each trial.

The 2:16 trotting race, purse $300, brought six entries with Alito Delmar, Unreclonia and Service King entered. The latter horse ran out of the money, and the race, Sura Mike had two firsts, a three and two twos.

In for four heats, being ruled out in the fifth when the contest narrowed down to Silk Leader, a brown gelding, and Sura Mike, also a brown gelding, and with a record of 2:16. Silk Leader won three firsts out of the five trials, and the race, Sura Mike had two firsts, a three and two twos.

CAMPAIGN AGAINST SWINDLERS

The Investment Bankers' Association in convention at Cleveland has voted to spend $250,000 in advertising calculated to educate investors as to what kind of securities to buy, what kind to avoid and thus to escape the horde of fraudulent stocks and investment schemes. It is expected that in this way the total amount of money lost in fraudulent or delusive schemes will be reduced to the extent of $500,000,000 per annum.

The bankers could not put out the money for a better purpose. It is simply amazing to find how gullible a vast number of people are when they are taken with the get-rich-quick craze. Some that have worked hard and saved most industriously during the greatest part of a lifetime, but without any knowledge of business or financial affairs, will listen to the appeals of oily tongued agents or even of advertisements by unreliable investment companies, telling what a great opportunity they offer to investors. We have had several such companies in Lowell and their dupes lost from $3,000,000 to $5,000,000 within the last two years.

One might expect that after such an experience no other swindling operations could succeed here. It is remarkable, indeed one of the things that cannot be explained, that no matter how many are swindled, there will be hundreds of others ready to take the chance that will reduce them to beggary. Ponzi reaped a rich harvest here as in other Massachusetts cities; but that did not prevent other companies from coming here soon after with fraudulent financial schemes and taking millions of dollars of the hard earned money of working people.

The ease with which the swindlers play their game under the guise of legitimate business is simply astounding. It would seem to verify Barnum's statement that the people like to be humbugged; but those who hand out their money expecting to make a fortune, or at least to secure two, three or four times what the ordinary bank pays in interest, very nature of his business is competent to give sound advice on such are simply fooled but they do not know it until too late.

It is for this reason and to protect the people against their own foolishness that the advertising campaign planned by the Bankers' Association is very necessary and is likely to have good results. Of course, the swindlers will tell the people that the bankers want nobody to get the people's money but themselves; but the bankers are responsible and the others—those who sell wildcat stocks through agents, or who ask to be trusted with the investment of vast sums of money without security are not.

Times have not been prosperous of late, and it will be more difficult to conduct swindling operations than formerly, but nevertheless, bogus stocks will be offered under enticing conditions only to entrap the unwary or the gullible. The safe course in such a case is, to consult a reputable banker, a man who has a reputation and standing in the community who can be relied upon to give an honest opinion and a man who from the very nature of his business is competent to give sound advice on such matters.

THE G. O. P. PLATFORM

Manager Butler who, with Messrs. Mondell and Slomp, is conducting the republican campaign, tells us that President Coolidge is the issue and that he ought to be elected because he has "character and honesty." In view of the corruption of the administration at Washington as exposed in recent investigations, it must be reassuring to find that "honesty" is one of the prominent qualifications on which the republicans put forward their candidate for election.

Since when did these homely virtues become the sole qualification for the high office of president? Nobody doubts the honesty of President Coolidge and nobody doubts the honesty of President Harding. There probably never was, and it is to be hoped never will be, a president of the United States who was not personally honest. But it is obvious that if honesty were the sole requirement for the office of president, almost any one of the vast majority of one 110,000,000 American people would be qualified, for it is conceded that the majority of them are honest. If that be the sole measure of a man's fitness for office, we may as well apply the civil service test, have the applicants file their certificates of good character and then fill the job without all the noise, expense and turmoil of a political campaign every four years.

We have no objection to making on the character or honesty of President Coolidge; but we submit that there are not the sole qualifications for president of the United States, that they do not constitute, as alleged, an adequate party platform or a guarantee of progress, leadership and executive ability which are also high essentials of the personal equipment of any successful president of the United States.

It is presumed that every candidate seeking election as president is personally honest and it is only the party that has a record of dishonesty and corruption that can expect to make political capital by shouting from the housetops that its candidate is honest. We believe he is honest and that in this respect alone he stands in striking contrast to many of the officials who figured prominently in the republican cabinet during the last four years, including a certain Mr. Fall and a Mr. Daugherty who filled the highly important office of attorney general.

But can any charge of dishonesty be brought against the democratic candidates? Certainly not, and yet they are not crowing over this fact, as their party has not been accused of dishonesty.

PRICE OF COFFEE

It is feared in some quarters that the civil war in Brazil may interfere with our coffee supply and result in raising the price of that popular restaurant beverage, the cup of coffee. A speaker at the national convention of restaurateurs announced that in the very near future the popular eating houses will have to lift the price of the five cent cup of coffee. It is a well known fact that some restaurants have built up their business on the excellence of their coffee which they dispensed at five cents a cup. Most of our coffee is imported from Brazil where the crop this year has fallen far short of that of last year. The difference is estimated as high as a million and a half bags.

Americans use more coffee than any other people in the world in proportion to population. The average consumption is 13 pounds a year for every

A Thought

To business that we love, we rise betimes and go to it with delight.—Shakespeare.

Very Good Offer

Having completed a handsome residence, the builder takes on a shed used for tools and blueprints a sign referring to the new edifice and reading: "A rare bargain at $15,000." As he was standing out in front a stranger stopped up to him and said: "This one-room shack isn't worth $15,000. I'll give you $15,000 for it."

Not New to Him

"Ever been arrested before?" asked a young lawyer, who had been assigned to defend a prisoner without funds. "Yes, sir, I been in jail twelf fer grand larceny, once fer forgery, and ten times fer vagrancy." "Well, well, life with you has not been a grand, sweet song?" "No, sir; but this time I got a holiday."

Cat Rewarded

While putting up a radio aerial at Packerton, Penn. John Meyer lost his diamond ring. He was about to give up his search for it when his attention was attracted by the queer movements of a cat. He noticed the feline watching something. He followed the cat to a spot nearby and there lay the diamond ring. Meyer gave the cat as a reward a quart of milk and a can of fish.

Doubted Self-Improvement

Mary, the new maid, complained that John, aged 5, had put out his tongue at her. The following dialogue followed: "John, how dare you be so rude? Putting your tongue out is a vulgar trick." "John—" "I didn't put my tongue out, mummy." "Don't tell lies, now, you naughty boy." "I didn't put my tongue out. I was giving past Mary with my mouth open and my tongue happened to fall out."

No Because Now

The excuse that one didn't get up in time to have breakfast before Sunday school began is out of order for members of the Highland Park Bible class at the Highland Presbyterian church at Pittsburgh, for breakfast is served in the church basement prior to the opening of the class meeting, ham and eggs being on the menu. The Sunday morning breakfasts are to be continued as a means of stimulating Sunday school attendance.

The Fake Optic

Hercules was sent to his room as a punishment for looking forbidden cake from the cupboard. His mother, thinking to make his punishment more impressive, went to his room and after all was forgiven said: "Now, Hercules, what did I punish you for?" Hercules looked at her in amazement and his face wore a pained expression. "Well, mummy," he replied, "I like that! Here I have been kept in bed all the afternoon and you don't know what you did to me!"

Picked Night Man

The two artists met each other at the academy view. They discussed art together, and were unanimous in blaming the judges for not having selected their important works to be hung on the walls. "Well, I can't grumble. I'm not doing so badly," remarked one of the pair at last. "How's that?" asked the other. "I've a commission." "Yes, from a millionaire?" "No, from his children painted badly." "O," remarked his companion, "then I should say that you're the very man for the job."

Do not say that life is wasting. Or that hope's sweet day is set; While time flies and love remains, Life is in the broken yet.

Do not think those charms are flying, That fly round and fall; Beauty hath a grace and youth, Which in the earth's there all.

Not for charms, the newest, brightest, Best, That on other cheeks may shine, Would I change the least, the slightest, Best.

That is lingering now 'er thine. —THOMAS MOORE.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

One of Lowell's oldest woman voters and an octogenarian, never fails to go to the polls and cast her ballot for favorite candidates. She prefers candidates of the democracy, but party designation does not always influence her choice when she goes to the polling booth. Mrs. Mary J. McLaughlin, of No. 30 Alder street, whose 84th birthday falls on Sept. 27, has regularly cast her ballot in precinct 1, ward 9, ever since she became an enlisted voter in the days when women were first permitted to cast ballots for school committee candidates in a municipal election. Mrs. McLaughlin has faithfully voted, at city primaries and elections, and at state primaries and elections, rarely remaining away from the ballot box except when illness prevented her leaving home, or absences from the city acted as a preventive. The Alder street woman is a native of Ireland coming to Lowell when but a child of eleven. She married William J. McLaughlin, a former Lowell business man, now deceased, and there are four children. The highly respected lady, who takes much pride in the possession of her citizenship rights, went to the polls on the recent Lowell primary day and cast a ballot for a man whose candidacy greatly pleased her—Mr. Patrick P. Nestor, who was a candidate for the democratic nomination in the fifth representative district. She is a regular reader of The Lowell Sun and receives it each night without fail. Mrs. McLaughlin has been acquainted with Comrade James McLaughlin, the Stockpile street Civil war veteran, although not related to him by any name. The veteran often calls at the Alder street domicile of Mrs. McLaughlin, with a cheery word of greeting and solicitude.

Middlesex county extension service announces that the plans for the new market garden field station, at Cedar Hill, Waltham, are nearing completion. The first greenhouse to be erected will be entirely for experimental work, and will be 200 feet long and 25 feet wide. A boiler house will be erected large enough to heat a service building, with another room large enough to house another boiler to be used by heating the administration building. Farmers from Dunstable, Tyngsboro, Lynn, Chelmsford, Tewksbury and the Haverhill and Waltham areas, at least, and hold an outdoor convention for the purpose of discussing agricultural problems. They are always interested in the land-filling operations being conducted at Cedar Hill by state-paid expert tillers of the soil. At present, the Waltham acreages are planted to corn. The first field contains a corn-borer test. At the Lexington farm controlled by the farm bureau organization, seed and vegetable tests are carried on regularly all summer, mainly for the purpose of detecting diseases of the common kind and searching for new ones as they appear from year to year from foreign climes.

And now we are to have a Golden Rule Sunday, to be observed Dec. 7. The purpose is to eventually reach world peace through the observance of the Golden Rule. In order to properly observe the day each and every one must make a practical application on that day of the principles of the Golden Rule. "The man who professes to believe and practice that great international maxim, and who in his prosperity sees his brother in need and withholds his compassion is a hypocrite," declares Charles V. Vickrey, president of the International Near East association. "I wonder just how far this Golden Rule will go toward establishing world peace. If one ignores the Divine Law every day in the year, how can he remember to practice it one day out of 365 just to be 'in style'?"

At a recent auction of rare volumes in New York, a copy of Sanders's Biography of the Signer of the Declaration of Independence sold for the sum of $10,750. It would seem that such a valuable work must have had a wide circulation if the number of copies were not quite limited. Besides, it might naturally be supposed that such a book would be preserved through feelings of patriotism and veneration for the men who were the pioneers in founding the republic. It is this consideration that makes the book so valuable at the present time.

The American Classical League finds no decline of educational interest in the study of the classics. This is a healthy sign of intelligence. It is quite easy for people who are anxious to make every study count in the work of making a living to underestimate the value of the classics. Latin and Greek especially should form a part of every college course. Even the

Indications Point to Dead Sea Becoming Great Financial Asset of Palestine

JERUSALEM, Sept. 26.—Recent investigations indicate that the Dead sea may become the greatest financial asset of the government of Palestine. It has been found that the waters of the sea contain a very strong precipitate of potash which, by a simple process, can be extracted at an expense of about $5 a ton. Including transportation charges and governmental tax the product can be delivered at the port of Jaffa at a cost of $15 a ton. It is estimated, against the price of $30 now obtaining for potash in Europe.

$40,000 LOSS BY FIRE AT NEWBURYPORT

NEWBURYPORT, Mass., Sept. 26.—Fire, early today, practically destroyed the Bon Marche, the largest department store in this city. The origin of the fire, which started in the basement of the store, has not yet been determined. The loss is estimated at $40,000.

FIRST UNIVERSALIST CHURCH PROGRAM

The First Universalist church is planning an elaborate and extensive program for the coming month and one which will be conspicuous in social, religious and fraternal circles throughout the city.

The program will be opened with a church supper on Oct. 3, the first to be given by the church. Following this, a supper and social will be held. This novel idea is quite simple yet most interesting. Through the kindness of Mr. F. A. Derby, the church will have the use of a fine stereoscope and reflectoscope throughout the winter and this will be used at the social when each person present will submit a postcard to be shown on the screen. If the card represents a view, the person who brought the card is expected to have a word to say about it. This, however, is not compulsory but will greatly add to the enjoyment of the program.

The Allusion circle will hold its first meeting on Wednesday afternoon, Oct. 1, at the home of Mrs. E. W. Hunt, in Arcadia avenue. Mrs. Frank Whitney, president of the circle, will preside at the meeting.

Rally Sunday will be observed Oct. 3, and a large gathering is expected. The Merrimack Valley conference, which will be held at the First Grace church in this city on Oct. 8, will bring representatives from Nashua, N. H., Haverhill, Methuen and Lawrence. A fine program has been arranged for the occasion and luncheon will be served the visitors at noon.

men who take scientific courses adapted to technical pursuits will benefit by a study of both these languages.

Yesterday was without doubt the coldest Sept. 25 within recent memory. It was cold in the city and colder in the country. The record, I think, can be claimed by Billerica where several localities reported zero temperature in the early morning. It's a fact, Chief Henry D. Livingston of the Billerica police told me yesterday that the thermometer at his home at 7 o'clock in the morning registered zero. And there was plenty of frost in the ground, too.

The Adams Hardware and Paint Co. in Middlesex street, has hanging on exhibition in one of its windows the original key to the old Lowell jail that once was situated in Dutton street, near Fletcher. It flourished in the year prior to the Civil war and was in use until the one in Thorndike street was opened in 1856. The key, a staunch affair, is about seven inches in length and was the property of the late George Russell, a stone cutter, who had a part in the erection of the jail in Thorndike street.

The choice of the Latham twins, David and Ernie, as cheer leaders for high school athletic activities, certainly strikes a popular note among the students of the school. The two boys are very popular, and have gained considerable prominence through their activities on the track team. They should make a decided "hit" out at the park for they look alike, not alike, and many even claim they think alike.

Because

There's always a reason for everything, yet there's one satisfaction we never can get. The womenfolk gather and chatter and buzz. You ask why they do it—the answer's "because." The Missus refuses to join you at lunch and what is the reason? You haven't a hunch! You wonder and fret like the average man does. You say, "please explain," and she answers, "because." A dapper young fellow will grow a mustache though he knows that the thing will look perfectly rash. Politely you ask him the cause of the fuzz. But he just doesn't know, so he answers "because." Whenever you're stuck on a question folks ask, don't feel that answer's a terrible task. When quizzed as to why—well, just take it from me, just answer "because" and you're safe as can be. Perhaps you will wonder, with reason enough, just why a man writeth this lingo of stuff. The answer should clear me—I hope that it does—and the honest reply to the question's "because."

FLIERS LEAVE TOMORROW FOR EUGENE, OREGON

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 26.—The army round-the-world airman, who arrived here yesterday from Santa Monica, rested today, a 24-hour delay being occasioned by the forced landing of the Boston II at South San Francisco when battery trouble developed. The fliers plan to leave here tomorrow morning for Eugene, Ore., the last official stop before reaching Seattle, Wash., terminus of the flight.

BEAUTIFUL WINDOWS AT THE BON MARCHE

Among the many beautiful display windows in the city are the Bon Marche compartments which this season are displaying the latest in the coat, suit, dress, millinery and footwear worlds. With a background of white imitation stone with lattice work gates and circular windows, reminding one of the old-time walls which surrounded great cities, the display windows are a fine background for the handsome gowns, coats and specimens of Parisian finery in millinery and dress. In each window, perhaps in the centre, perhaps to the side, in whichever position it is most applicable is a huge vase filled with leaves of caprice and oak, giving a pleasing touch of natural beauty to the picture. The base is of a dull shade which shows

LOTTA CRABTREE DEAD

One Time Famous Actress
77th Year

BOSTON, Sept. 26.—The death last night of "Lotta" Crabtree, the actress who danced her way to a fortune through the mining camps of California and the music halls of Broadway, left theatre-goers of this city with a sense of loss and with keen curiosity as to what "Lotta" had done in disposing of her estate. She had promised friends a surprise.

The actress, who died in her 77th year without kin, had added to the profits of her theatrical enterprises larger sums gained in real estate speculation in New York and elsewhere, and owned property in many places. Her fortune has been estimated from a million and a half dollars to three times that amount.

"Lotta" will be buried next Sunday at Woodlawn cemetery, New York, beside her brother, "Jack" Crabtree, who managed her racing stable until his death.

GOLF TOURNAMENT

ARDMORE, Pa., Sept. 25 (By the Associated Press).—The national amateur golf tournament is in the semi-final round today with Robert T. Jones, Jr., of Atlanta playing Francis Ouimet of Boston and Max H. Marston of Philadelphia, the defending champion, meeting George von Elm of Los Angeles.

In the closest match of yesterday's third round Marston defeated Dexter Cummings of Chicago, Yale's intercollegiate champion, by 2 and 1. Von Elm eliminated H. Briggs, Jr., of New York, seven six.

McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets
Help You Gain Strength and Put on Needed
Weight—Great

Nothing like the vitamins in Cod Liver Oil to help convalescing people to quickly get strong and well—everybody knows that.

But nobody wants to take the ill-smelling, horrible tasting stomach-upsetting oil itself, so nowadays, up to date medical men are ordering a tablet of Cod Liver Oil and it surely does the work.

Ask A. W. Dows & Co., Green's Drug Store, Fred Howard, or any regular druggist for a box of McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets. They are sugar coated and as pleasant to take as candy.

Skinny men and women take them to speedily put on plenty of good, healthy flesh and for this purpose they are so extremely good that thin men and women often take on five pounds or over in 30 days. As a matter of fact, your druggist will return your money if you don't take on five pounds in 30 days.

Great for weak, run-down children, too, and gives them a hearty appetite—50 tablets, 60 cents.

How to Banish Piles

Thousands Bless Dr. Leonhardt, the Physician Who Discovered This Common-Sense Remedy.

If you think that the surgeon's knife is the only method of escape from the misery of piles, it's because you haven't heard of the new treatment known as Dr. Leonhardt's HEM-ROID. The doctor's treatment is internal. By experimenting for years he discovered the exact cause of piles and then went further and compounded a remedy that would remove the cause.

Dr. Leonhardt wants every sufferer to benefit by his discovery and so that there will be no doubting or delay, Green's Drug Store and all druggists are authorized to sell HEM-ROID with guarantee that it will do as stated or money back.

On that honorable basis every sufferer should try a package of Dr. Leonhardt's HEM-ROID today—Adv.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE
All of the various things which go to make up "A Bouquet of Originalities" at the B. F. Keith theatre this week, are good. The dancing, the piano playing, the singing and the acrobatics are of the very best class.

Joseph Downing has certainly collected an admirable company. The Bion City Four, as of old, sweep the audience with their funny work, and the Grand Twins are youthful dancers who score remarkably. "Pagana," the girl violinist, is uncommonly good, and Mullen & Francis offer a full comedy. Bollinger & Reynolds open the bill with a wire novelty. The week's picture is "Between Friends," with a superb cast.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE
"Wanderer of the Wasteland," a Zane Gray Paramount production, featuring Jack Holt, Kathryn Williams, Noah Henry and Billie Dove, will play only a few more performances at the Merrimack Square theatre. You've heard about the wonderful "colorful photograph" in Cecil B. deMille's "The Ten Commandments," but this one is done entirely in color. There is not a black and white sequence throughout the length of the film. Even if it were not for the great story it really is, you should see this picture just for the novelty of the thing. It is the first really practical all-color production, but it is more than a novelty—it is Zane Gray's greatest story brought to life.

The companion attraction is "The Heart-Bundle," starring Viola Dana in the story of "a good bad girl." A comedy and the latest International News complete the bill.

LOEW'S RIADTO
A picture for all the world to see! That's "Judgment of the Storm," and will open a week's run at the Riadto commencing next Monday. When you have a mother and son devotedly attached to each other and then the

PROMINENT MEN ARE AGAINST REFERENDUM

BOSTON, Sept. 26.—The Constitution of Liberty League of this city has issued an article strongly opposing the adoption of referendum No. 3, relative

ACIDS IN STOMACH CAUSE INDIGESTION

Causes Gas, Sourness and Pain. How to Treat.

Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning, gas, bloating, nervousness, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach and not, as some believe, to a lack of digestive juices. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food sours, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well. Artificial digestants are not needed in such cases and may do real harm. Try laying aside all digestive aids and instead get from any drugist a few ounces of Ussurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water, right after eating. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid and there is no sourness, gas or pain. Blaudated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and is the most efficient form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.—Adv.

to the enforcement of the Volstead act. Among other things the article says:

The omission of Massachusetts to pass an enforcement law would not abrogate, in any degree, the operation of the federal law. That can be enforced as vigorously as the federal government sees fit to enforce it.

It is clear, therefore, that a citizen of Massachusetts who for any reason wishes to vote "No" on referendum 3 will violate no duty to his country in doing so.

The article is signed by a long list of prominent lawyers, ex-mayors and others who have had considerable to do with the enforcement of the law. They are as follows:

The People's Symphony orchestra of this city, an organization of semi-professional players which was formed last season held its first practice session last evening in Middlesex hall under the direction of Philippe O. Bergeron.

Rehearsals will be held every Thursday evening at 7.30 o'clock in Middlesex hall, the permanent quarters of the orchestra. It is planned to give a concert sometime in December and Director Bergeron said last evening that he hopes to have all registrations in within the next two weeks that intensive work may be started early in October. The orchestra is not for any special group of people but for any one having a fair amount of natural talent and sufficient training to play the numbers which will be given by the orchestra at its concerts.

LOST SLEEP FROM ERUPTIONS

Children Cried With Pain. Cuticura Healed.

"My three children suffered with large eruptions that started with a reddish circle about the size of a quarter. Later they formed bilaters and broke and itched considerably. Their faces were covered with sore eruptions and their clothing aggravated the breaking out. They could not sleep and cried with the pain caused by the constant itching and burning.

"I sent for a free sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and after using I noticed a vast improvement. I purchased more and in two weeks they were healed." (Signed) Mrs. Muriel Eddy, 68 Second St., E. Providence, R. I.

FOR INVESTIGATION OF GERMAN ARMAMENTS

GENEVA, Sept. 25. (By the Associated Press.)—Several plans for the investigation of German armaments by the council of the League of Nations, authorized under the Versailles treaty, are now under consideration by the council. The league's permanent commission on military and naval matters has reported a detailed project, one feature of which is that the investigating body may contain some representatives of the states bordering on Germany.

The commission charged with examining the protocol of arbitration and security are proceeding with their work vigorously, being determined to submit the draft to the assembly before the first of next week.

THIRD DAY OF JAIL AUCTION

The third day of the public auction of Lowell jail furnishings began at 1 o'clock this afternoon with the personal property in the keeper's residence and outside ready for sale. It is believed the sale will end by midnight.

A total of 205 lots of furnishings in the jail, proper and in the laundry were sold yesterday afternoon, with hundreds of persons present. Good prices were received for laundry equipment, but much of jail property, in-

ARM BROKEN IN SCHOOL BASEMENT

Little Winifred Powers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Powers of Goshen street, who sustained a broken arm while playing in the basement of the Wood Street school Wednesday is resting comfortably. It seems the Powers girl with others was running around in the basement, when one of her playmates accidentally pushed her. She fell with considerable force on her right arm. Dr. Gaffney was summoned and he ordered the child removed to St. John's hospital, where it was found the arm had been fractured just above the wrist.

ENORMOUS DAMAGE CAUSED BY FLOOD

LENNINGRAD, Russia, Sept. 26 (by the Associated Press).—First estimates of the havoc wrought by the flood following Tuesday's storm placed the damage to industrial property alone at 10,000,000 rubles. The losses to private property have not yet been estimated.

The shops, schools and theatres have been re-opened, the street cars are running and martial law has been withdrawn.

Childing iron beds and mattresses were drugs on the market. A lot of 10 iron bedsteads, that never have been used, sold for 10 cents each and accompanying mattresses for the same price. Hanging beds in cells, 71 in number, sold as a lot for $2.

HAD A WONDERFUL TIME

Third Annual Outing of Lowell Advertising Club Was Big Success

Little, but oh, my.

That just about tells the story of the third annual outing of the Lowell Advertising Club, held yesterday afternoon at Willow Dale, and attended by about 35 or 40 couples who with the lack of restraint that goes with such an affair, cut loose and made a rip-roaring fun fest of all there was to do.

Chairman Bill Bruce swung a mean megaphone that kept events running every minute of the afternoon and his wise cracks kept the non-combatants amused with mirth. It was a day of surprises, from the opening sports event when John Moloney won the 100 yard dash against a fast field, through the dinner when the mayor awarded the master prizes of the day to Mrs. James B. Casey and Mr. James B. Casey respectively, until the final moments of the dance when Sam Scott acted as master of ceremonies and singed a real old-fashioned Virginia reel in which everybody on the premises participated.

THOMAS H. ATKINSON Club President

"The Prince of Whales"

The huffed visit of "The Prince of Whales" and the pony polo game that followed provided one of the hits of the day, its right to the honor of being the premier attraction being challenged only by the special foot race between Leon Mullin and Mark McCann. Unlike the polo match, the foot race was a tie and had to be settled with a special pillow fight, the result of which is so far undetermined by a jury that is still out. For their efforts, as Bill Bruce said, they won the thanks of the club.

But to get back to the prince, Charles Keyes, attired in knicker, snappy hat with turn down brim and coat that undoubtedly once served to fit the form of one of Lowell's best coachmen, played the part and did nobly. He was escorted by Leo Duggan attired in the last things in women's wear. By last things I mean the last things taken off, not the last things to take on.

Polo Match a Screen

These two, after making appropriate bows decided to hold the fort against the American polo team in a special polo match. A big rubber ball was placed in the center of the field and the poloists were given stable brooms for clubs. The match started at the whistle of Reuben Bruce and provided a good deal of fun.

Henry Mulcahy and Tom Atkinson, looking like two of the original Four Horsemen, represented the American team. One goal was to win and they poked in the tally while the prince's horse refused to steer, nonchalantly walked into the lake for a drink of water. The prince still astride, and his partner, Leo Duggan, gazing at the strange picture in open-mouthed amazement. The horses were loaned for the occasion by Martin Flaherty.

MISS IRENE M. MATTHEWS
Club Secretary

from his Wameest riding school and refused to become enthused over such an amateur rider as the prince.

"The Clancy Kids" a Hit

Thomas and John Clancy, four and five years old, gave a four-round sporting exhibition that delighted the crowd. Stripped to the skin and wearing the conventional tights and sash the youngsters waded at each other in good style. A miniature ring was erected for the fight and all the usual paraphernalia except the black bottle was on hand. James Clancy acted as referee and he declared the contest a tie.

A buffet lunch consisting of chowder, doughnuts, coffee and sandwiches was served upon arrival at the picnic grounds at 1 o'clock. The clubhouse was opened at 3 o'clock. The sports program made the afternoon pass in short order. After the bake prizes were awarded event winners and dancing in the pavilion kept everybody happy until a seasonable hour.

A lot of winners in the sports events:

prizes, men only: John J. Moloney, first; Charles Keyes, second; Bob Ganley, third.

prizes, women only: Mrs. Fred

J. Navery, first; Miss Gertrude Moohan, second.

Stone throw: Men, Leon Mullin, first; Charles Keyes, second. Women, Rose Jordan, first; Mrs. Navery, second. In this event the winners in both classes hit the floating object with the first stone thrown.

Bunch of Swell Suckers

Nipple sucking contest: Mrs. Fred Navery, first; Charles Keyes, second. In this contest, loose bottles were capped with nipples and the first person to suck theirs empty was winner. Leon Mullin was first but he failed so far ahead of the field the judges became suspicious. Investigation disclosed him guilty of cribbing. He bit the end of the nipple off before commencing the contest, so he was disqualified.

Irene Matthews and Mrs. V. L. Morrill of Chelmsford won the snowshoe race for women. Leo Duggan and Mrs. John J. Moloney won the shoe race. In this event the shoes of the women folk were all tossed in a sack and shaken up. Men were obliged to recover their partner's shoes, put them on the feet of the fair one and then run with her to the finishing point.

McAnn Pillow Champ

Mark McCann proved himself the pillow-fighting champion of the club by knocking out all who opposed him. Bill Higgins, Bob Ganley, Leon Mullin, John Moloney, Tom Atkinson, Henry Mulcahy and Bill Ryan were all constantly but they couldn't stand the gauf.

Mr. and Mrs. Atkinson led the field in the three-legged race, being followed in order by Mr. and Mrs. Navery and Mr. and Mrs. Cooney. Mrs. Morrill won the balloon race with Leon Mullin a close second.

Leon Mullin's hastily recruited ball team took the count over Mark McCann's aggregation so easily, the scorer quit at the end of the opening frame. The ball game was the last event of the afternoon preceding the bake and the presentation of prizes.

"WELL-TAILORED" MAN AN ABOMINATION

LONDON, Sept. 26.—The well-tailored man is an abomination from the point of view of hygienics, according to a Harley street specialist.

"All tight-fitting, closely woven garments, such as the majority of men wear in town, are unhealthy," he says. "Men wear the wrong sort of clothes and far too many layers of them."

"I should say men would look a great deal younger at 40 than they do now if they adopted a more sensible costume. I don't suggest that men need go about the streets in jumpers, but they might wear more loosely woven tweeds. Waistcoats also could be discarded; they are a social convention of no particular use."

Pirate Ship Riddled and Demolished on Rocks of Coogan's Bluff

Seeks Football Honors

DAN KINSEY

The gentleman shown here in football regalia is a little unaccustomed to his new togs. He being none other than Dan Kinsey, famous hurdler, who brought glory to the University of Illinois by breaking a world record in the Olympics.

Dan is fired with the ambition of being another Red Grange and is practicing with Zuppke's Illinois eleven. He's considered a promising candidate for the backfield. If he does as well on the gridiron as on the track he'll be a fitting running mate for the great Grange.

GIANTS SCORE THIRD STRAIGHT AND ELIMINATE PIRATES FROM RACE

Artie Nehf, Perennial Nemesis of Pirate Crew, Completed Wreck Which Paralleled Invasion of 1922 When Pirates Came to New York With 7-Game Lead

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—(By the Associated Press).—The brave Pirate ship which steamed up the Harlem, its floating back now demolished and riddled, a victim of the Giant rocks of Coogan's Bluff which checked another Corsair threat five years ago.

Artie Nehf, perennial nemesis of the Pirate crew, yesterday completed the wreck which paralleled so closely the invasion of 1922 when Pittsburgh came here with a seven game lead and was beaten five times by the Giants who went on to their second straight pennant.

Today, John McGraw, iron-gray genius of the Giant dugout who annually in an emergency, endows his youthful charges with invincible spirit and tightens their knuckles into an impenetrable whole, awaits the history-making fourth consecutive pennant which has been twice denied him but which his patched crew of 1924 now have made almost inevitable.

And Artie Nehf, upon whom the sitting sun of the 1922 series seemed to gloomily rays, is the Giant hero whose arm held the Pirates at bay and whose home run sent his team into a lead which was never lost.

The contest, the third straight defeat for Pittsburgh at the hands of a crippled New York, eliminated the Pirates from the National League race which is now a two-team battle between the Giants and Robins. McGraw's club needs to win only two of its remaining three with the Phillies to clinch the flag.

There were no games in the American league and the status of the Senators and Yankees was unchanged. Washington can call the leading, by winning three of its four games with Boston even though New York sweeps its four with Philadelphia.

The Giant-Pirate finale was a replica of the two previous contests in which the visitors were always reaching for the prize which the Giants boldly grasped. Except for one inning, the fourth, in which Traylor scored after his hit and errors by Lindstrom and Kelly, who substituted for Uch and Frisch, the Pittsburgh team was a constant, almost colorless foil to a spectacular New York kite.

Meusel got the run back with a home run in the Giant half of the fifth inning and in the seventh Nehf after his hit and errors by Lindstrom and Kelly, who substituted for Uch and Frisch, the Pittsburgh team was a constant, almost colorless foil to a spectacular New York kite.

FRANKIE ROSSI GETS DECISION

Britisher Awarded Verdict Over Willie Gradwell in Fast Ten-Round Battle

Tommy Leonard Adds Another K. O. Victory to His List—Other Bouts

For the second time in two weeks a substitute came through with victory when Frankie Rossi was awarded the decision over Willie Gradwell of Somerville in the main event of the bloody club card in the Crescent rink last night.

Rossi, 118, Glasgow, a week ago, came on at the 11th hour to fill in for Tony Julian, who for the second time withdrew because of an "injured ankle." Rossi had been seen here before, while he had made a most favorable impression, the majority felt he would be easy for the veteran and crafty Gradwell.

But he upset the dope. He carried the fight to his heavier and more experienced opponent and while he encountered stiff opposition in the early rounds, he finally broke through Gradwell's defense and in the closing stages had the better of the milling.

It developed into a great fight. Gradwell found Rossi a difficult target to reach. The Britisher boxed in a crouched position and his artful ducking and dodging forced Gradwell to miss repeatedly. And when Willie shot high or low of the mark Rossi countered with stiff punches to the midriff.

Gradwell's best work was done in the early rounds and he was well out in front at the half way mark. In the fifth he punched up his opponent over Rossi's right eye. This blow seemed to stimulate Frankie to greater efforts and in the closing sessions he fought furiously to overcome the lead.

The judges agreed to give him the award. While the majority seemed satisfied with the decision, others felt Gradwell's early lead gave him the edge. All, however, agreed it was a bang-up battle with both deserving credit for their earnest endeavors.

Tommy Leonard of Lowell added another K. O. victory to his rapidly growing list when he dropped Frankie French of Charlestown for the count in the fourth. Leonard had knocked his opponent down three times in the third. The local lad was in fine form and he completely outclassed his opponent.

Salter Munley of Salem lost to Tommy Murphy of South Boston in one of the preliminaries, and Al Stevenson of Lawrence lost to his professional opponent, who was awarded the decision over Johnny Hebert of Lowell in the other.

FRISCH AND HARRIS ARE KEYSTONE KINGS

BY BILLY EVANS

HARRIS, WASHINGTON—Bats and throws right handed. Is having one of his best years. Managerial duties have in no way handicapped his play. Remarkable fielder. Not a great hitter but always dangerous. Marvel at making double plays. Ready baserunner. Real star.

WARD, NEW YORK—Bats and throws right handed. Had greatest year of his career in 1923. Has not played up to form this year due to injuries. His defense from game has seriously handicapped the Yankees, breaking up smoothness of infield. Great player when right.

O'Rourke, joining the club during the last two months of season, only player to perform satisfactorily at that position. Is a veteran of 24 years. Has twice before served in majors. Ready player, fine fielder, fair hitter.

FRISCH, NEW YORK—Bats right or left handed, throws right handed. One of the game's greatest players. Stars in every department of the game. He has made his professional debut in the field. Outstanding star at his position.

JUGIE, BROOKLYN—Bats left and throws right handed. Clever utility infielder who has played third, short and second with success. Came to majors as third baseman but is doing well at second. Good fielder and average hitter. Having good year at the bat.

RAPPING, NEW YORK—Bats and throws right handed. Former star shortstop converted into a great second baseman. Is the aggressive type, who seems to do his best work in the field. Great fielder, fair hitter, but mighty dangerous in the pinch.

PROMINENT TENNIS TWO-DAY TOURNAMENT PLAYERS TO COMPETE AT VESPER CLUB

CLEVELAND, Sept. 26.—Several of America's foremost tennis players were scheduled to appear on the University club's courts today in the second day's play of the United States intercity national doubles championships. William T. Tilden, 11, paired with Neil Sullivan was Philadelphia's representative, meets Louis Kibler, last year's Ohio champion, and Ted Stacey, Cincinnati's team, in one of the three matches on the program.

The opening match will be between Sam Hardy, former Davis cup captain, and Dean Mathey, New York's tennis, and John Hennessey, and Jack McKay, representing Indianapolis.

George Lott, Jr., national junior champion, and Walter Hayes, former clay courts titleholder—playing under Chicago's banner, oppose the A. H. Chapin, father and son, of Springfield, Mass., in the day's play.

Columbus represented by the Wertheim brothers, Walter and Herman, was eliminated by Harold Bartel and Henry Wolk, Jr., Cleveland, in straight sets in yesterday's only match. Cleveland drew a bye today.

The semi-finals will be played tomorrow and the finals Sunday.

Today and tomorrow the Vesper Country club will hold its annual open amateur golf tournament and the splendid course is in tip-top shape for play. It is expected that the entry list will top the 100 mark and will include many of the best players in Massachusetts and other New England states.

Victors will find little to criticize in the conduct of the Vesper layout today. The greens are fast, faster than at any other time this season, and the fairways have been nursed along and shaved down to give every opportunity for favorable lies. The facilities for wayward shots, of course, but few until now.

Inasmuch as the Merrimack Valley club and Madison also holds an open tournament on these two days, the two clubs are uniting in the presentation of prizes and net prizes for the best 36 holes made up of one round on each course. Two gross and two net prizes, totalling in value $150, have been put up by the Vesper committee for its own tournament.

TO EXPEDITE WORK IN PATENT OFFICE
WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—Secretary Work today announced the personnel of a committee, selected to simplify methods of procedure and expedite functioning of the patent office, which as a result of enormous increase in the nation's business during recent years is far behind in its work. A. J. Housh, of the chamber of commerce of the United States was named on the committee with the following members to represent various associations: George J. Prevost, Washington; Thomas B. Ewing, New York; Henry M. Huxley, Chicago; Harry Prease, Cleveland; Milton Tibbets, Detroit; and J. Bailey Brown, Pittsburgh.

hustler, will overlook many of his faults. However, the thing about Matthews that appealed to the fans was his manner of catching a fly ball. It gave him his color.

Instead of taking a fly ball after the usual manner of an outfielder, he would cup his hands against his chest or stomach and ninko a regular pocket for the ball.

For years Maranville, one of the stars of the National league, has caught fly balls in a similar manner. Being an infielder, there wasn't near the thrill to handling a pop fly in that manner as making a great catch of a hard drive to the outfield.

Philadelphia fans fell for Matthews' style. They yelled loudly when Connally Mack hit him go. The same thing happened at Washington.

All of which merely proves that, for the most part, the player who does things differently. His unique manner of catching a fly ball was Matthews' best asset.

It is a well known fact that such a method of handling a fly ball is all wrong for an outfielder.

It prevents him from getting the ball away quickly, in case a hurried throw is necessary.

However, the fans overlooked these faults, simply because Matthews amused them with his style. The model for the ball player is develop color.

KELLY OUT OF LOWELL LINEUP IN TOMORROW'S OPENER

"PETE" KELLY,
Out of Lowell Lineup

When the Lowell high school football team makes its 1924 debut to the local football public against Nashua high at Alumni field tomorrow, the players will be arrayed in navy blue jerseys of red and gray, the official school colors. The design will be a red background with gray stripes fashioned after some of the larger college models.

The largest squad of candidates in the football history of the school is prepared to enter the game against Nashua tomorrow. Yesterday and this afternoon, Coach Liston spent much time in developing a kicker, while Pierotti concerned himself principally with the linemen. In the punting department Fred Vinal has the edge and will start in the fullback position in the opening game. He got off some beautiful practice yesterday and if his line holds, he may be seen to good advantage in a real game.

"Pete" Kelly, veteran backfield man, although with football as far as the high school team is concerned, he was on the field in civies for a while yesterday, but did not don a uniform and the impression is prevalent that he will not be in there this year. The reason for his absence from the lineup is given out as "indisposed."

When Liston lined his probable first string team up against a substitute eleven yesterday, Coach Pierotti played a guard position for a while and was opposed by Sutherland, one of last year's stars. He was greatly impressed with Sutherland's work and had to use most of his All-American talent to hold the big Lowell boy in check.

One of the biggest surprises of this year's new flock of candidates is Austin Broome, the Pawtucketville youth, who has been going great guns as a center and understudy to Jim Haron. He is a hard working and conscientious player, digs his cleats into the ground hard, hits low and emphatically and knows how to handle the pigskin. Opposing teams will feel his presence in the coming games.

Nashua comes here tomorrow with a reputation for fast play. Most of her shifts are modeled, it is understood, around Ray Dohens, her flashy captain. If Frankie Heron's men can smother Dohens, victory for Lowell is practically assured.

In anticipation of a most successful season, the high school management has roped off Alumni field and installed portable bleachers along the side lines.

Harris and Bush Deliver As Managers

"DONIE" BUSH AND STANLEY HARRIS, TWO GRIFITHIAN MANAGERS WHO HAVE SCORED A SIGNAL SUCCESS.

BY BILLY EVANS
Baseball is crisscrossed full of uncertainties.

Three years ago Stanley Harris was merely the second baseman of the Washington Nationals. "Donie" Bush, played utility roles for the same team. Managerial aspirations were far removed from both. Harris yearned for the day when he would supplant Eddie Collins as premier second baseman of the American league. Bush was content to stick around through his ability to fill in at third, short or second.

Clyde Milne, outfielder of the Washington club, managed the team that year. He met with indifferent success and at the close of the season was let out. He had succeeded George Me-

Hilde, who for years starred at shortstop for the Nationals.

Whom would Owner Clark Griffith appoint to supplant Milne?
During the winter the air was filled with rumors. Griffith admitted dickering with Chicago for Eddie Collins. The White Sox insisted on getting Stanley Harris in the trade, so there was nothing doing.

Bush a Surprise
The announcement that "Donie" Bush, just the utility man on the club, would manage Washington for 1923, was the biggest baseball surprise of the year. Bush hadn't been figured in the running.

In all probability Bush had as much success with the Washington club last season as any manager would have had. He finished in the first division, fourth. No one had really expected more of the club.

Then, for reasons that have never been divulged, Bush, who had been figured a success, was released. To succeed him, Griffith named Stanley Harris, his youthful second sacker, still in his twenties.

The appointment of Harris caused as big a sensation as did the selection of Bush. Most of the experts looked for Peckinpaugh to get the job. Some figured the burden of managing the club might ruin the play of one of the game's leading second sackers.

Big things have happened in three years for both Harris and Bush.

Harris' Showing Great
Harris has been a whale of a success at Washington. The great showing of his team stimulated new interest in the American league race.

Bush, dropped at Washington, was made manager of the Indianapolis team of the American association. It was there that he first gained fame as a player, that won for him a chance with the Detroit club, where he starred for years.

Taking a seventh-place club, Bush, has been one, two, three since the start of the season and has a great chance to win a pennant with a club that was never considered in the running.

Looking as if Clarke Griffith knew something about the type of player suited for managing, in his selection of Bush and Harris. Both have made good with a vengeance.

EXPECT GREATEST TURF BATTLE ON RECORD
NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—Assuming a fast track, a good start and a clear race, experts are predicting the greatest battle in the history of the American turf when Ephraim faces the barrier with Larkin, Wise Counsellor, Zev, and My Own in the second international special over a mile at Aqueduct on Saturday.

Quintons are based on the remarkable victory of August Belmont's Larkin in the Edgemoor handicap last Saturday, a sensational 1.38 mile trial by Ephraim on Wednesday and the effort of Zev, in the Avenir handicap on the same day.

Wise Counsellor, winner over Ephraim in the first international race over six furlongs at Belmont park, has also been working well in practice and must be considered among the possible winners despite the prevalent opinion that the distance will not be to his liking and that a wet track would put him under a disadvantage.

Eugene Leitch, trainer of the French chestnut, was so pleased by the colt's performance in his recent trial that he made his first prediction of victory since coming to the country. The brilliant just also changed the opinion of many race-goers who had believed Larkin the probable winner.

RAY SCHALK SAYS NEW YORK YANKEES GOOD MONEY CLUB

BY RAY SCHALK
Famous Catcher, Chicago hits Sox

THE New York Americans of September are a better ball club than at any other time this year.

The Yankees, always a good money ball club, are responding to the crisis, doing their best work in the pinch.

About the middle of the season there was a general slump in the play of the Yankees. At that time the pitchers were performing poorly. The club seemed to take on the spirit of the pitchers.

It appeared as if the Yankees as a club figured it was impossible to win a fourth pennant with such inconsistent work on the part of the pitching staff. It really looked as if they were content to finish inside the money.

Coming into the home stretch neck-and-neck for pennant honors, with a great chance to go over for the fourth time, put new life into the Yankees.

Yanks Good Money Club

The lure of the dollar, coupled with the fact that the Yankees have always been good money players, put the winning spirit into the club. The Yankees of September are showing more fight than at any time this year.

The pitching staff has absorbed the spirit of the rest of the team. For weeks Pennock was the only dependable twirler. During the closing stages of the race the entire staff, Joe Bush in particular, has come to life with a vengeance.

Two unusual happenings helped the Yanks in their fight down the stretch. One was the ability of Walter Heald, a recruit twirler, to show big league stuff.

Beal performed sensationally in his first three starts. He is credited with winning two games, and, although the other contest resulted in a 4 to 3 victory for New York, Beal pitching seven innings, the victory went to another member of the staff.

Shawkey Does Comeback

George Hildebrand, American league umpire, also unwittingly helped the pitching staff of the Yankees. Because he persisted in discoloring a ball, Hildebrand put Shawkey out of a game, and with it went a 10-day suspension. That rest seems to have given Shawkey a new lease of life. He is as fast as ever and sure to be helpful as the teams go under the wire.

No one questions the ability of the Yankees. Like all clubs that have won several pennants in a row, the Yanks possibly took too many things for granted at the start of the season. A slow start is the handicap the club is working under in the stretch.

In a sense the Yanks might be classed as a careless club. No doubt the members of the team can look back over the season's play and pick out a half dozen or more games that might have been saved by more careful play. An undeserved defeat now and then meant nothing to the Yanks, as they figured they could go out and win when necessary. A club can't always do it.

Big Year for Ruth

Babe Ruth, the star of the club, is having another big year. He has done more than simply clear home runs, excelling in all departments of play. His great work has tired the club over many a slump.

A club with a batting star like Ruth, a club possessing a tremendous punch at the bat, a good defense, and a pitching staff of remarkable ability, is an aggregation that must be feared. Had the five-star staff of the Yankees run true to form, the American league race wouldn't have been such a hectic struggle from start to finish.

The Yanks of September are 25 per cent better than at any other time during the 1924 race. Incidentally good enough to win over any National league club that opposes them, provided the Yanks win.

IMPORTANT POSITION FOR

LOWELL GIRL

Miss Gabrielle M. A. Paquin, of 37 Arlington street, has been appointed secretary to the United States minister at Vienna, Austria, and leaves the city October 11 to start the trip overseas. About a year ago Miss Paquin entered the employ of the state department as a stenographer. Her special training and equipment for the position quickly won her recognition and placed her in line for promotion. Six months ago she was mentioned for a position at Belgrade, Czechoslovakia, but because of the troubled state of affairs there the department decided that a man might be better adapted to fill the vacancy.

Miss Paquin is a graduate of the Lowell schools and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Paquin. Upon leaving school seven years ago she first took employment as stenographer in the law office of Gardner and Fisher H. Pearson and also bookkeeper for the B. F. Duller Co-operative bank. A of her advancement in her chosen work. She is highly popular in French Catholic church and society circles here, and although of retiring disposition has the faculty of making warm friends of all with whom she comes in contact. She is about 23 years old, of dark complexion and has brown hair and blue eyes. She has discontinued her work in Washington in order to devote all of her time to preparation for her trip to assume her new duties. She sails on the steamer "Republic" of the United States Line from New York.

Pamphlets, signed by W. Z. Foster, chairman, and C. E. Ruthenberg, executive secretary of the "Workers' Party of America" (socialistic), are being distributed in Lowell and vicinity. Large, two-page sheets spreading communistic reading matter in black-face type, were found in the comfort station on Paige street, this morning. There were advertisements urging workers to join in the communistic mass meetings. Most of the literature from the "Workers' Party of America" comes from Chicago.

Jack Daw's Adventures. Chapter 10

By this time the captain and the two sailors grew tired of lying in the thicket. They hopped out and shouted, "Let's be on our way." So Jack and the guide followed them to another partly open pathway into the deeper jungle. It was necessary for the captain to keep cutting their way.

Jack got to playing with Flop, his pet monkey and he gradually fell a short distance behind the rest of the party. Suddenly he heard a great commotion above him. Looking up he saw several great large birds with long black bodies. They were swooping down closer and closer to Flop.

Jack knew right away that they were vultures, the big birds that eat fish and bones. He was afraid that one of them would grab hold of Flop and carry him up in the air. "Speak, old fellow," shouted Jack to his dog. Flop half stood up on his haunches and barked loudly. (Continued.)

Menus for a Family

Breakfast—Rolled oats with cold milk, apples, creamed potatoes, fried eggplant, whole wheat toast, milk, coffee.

Luncheon—Cream of corn soup, croquettes, broiled lamb chops, sliced peaches, whole wheat bread and butter, milk, tea.

Dinner—Pan-broiled pork chops, macaroni and onions, lettuce and tomato salad with French dressing, bread and butter, peach butter, custard bread pudding, milk, tea.

Rolls Oats With Coddled Apples—Six large smooth apples, 1 cup sugar, 1 1/2 cups water, 2 cups well cooked rolled oats.

Peel apples and remove cores. Care should be taken to keep the apples whole and that every bit of the core is out. Dissolve sugar in water and bring to the boiling point. Add apples and simmer until soft, but not broken. If you have a first class range, let the rolled oats cook over night. If not, cook the night before and reheat over hot water while "coddling" the apples. Fill cavities of apples with cereal and place in a buttered baking pan. Bake 15 minutes, basting several times with the syrup in which the apples were cooked. Serve with this cream.

Baked Macaroni With Onions—One cup macaroni broken in inch lengths, 2 large onions, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 1/2 cups milk, salt and pepper.

Cook macaroni in boiling salted water for 15 minutes. Drain. Put a layer of macaroni in a buttered baking dish, add a layer of onions cut in thin slices, dot with bits of butter, sprinkle with salt and pepper and cover with a layer of macaroni. Repeat layers for layer until all is used. Pour over milk, sprinkle with buttered crumbs and bake one hour in a moderate oven.

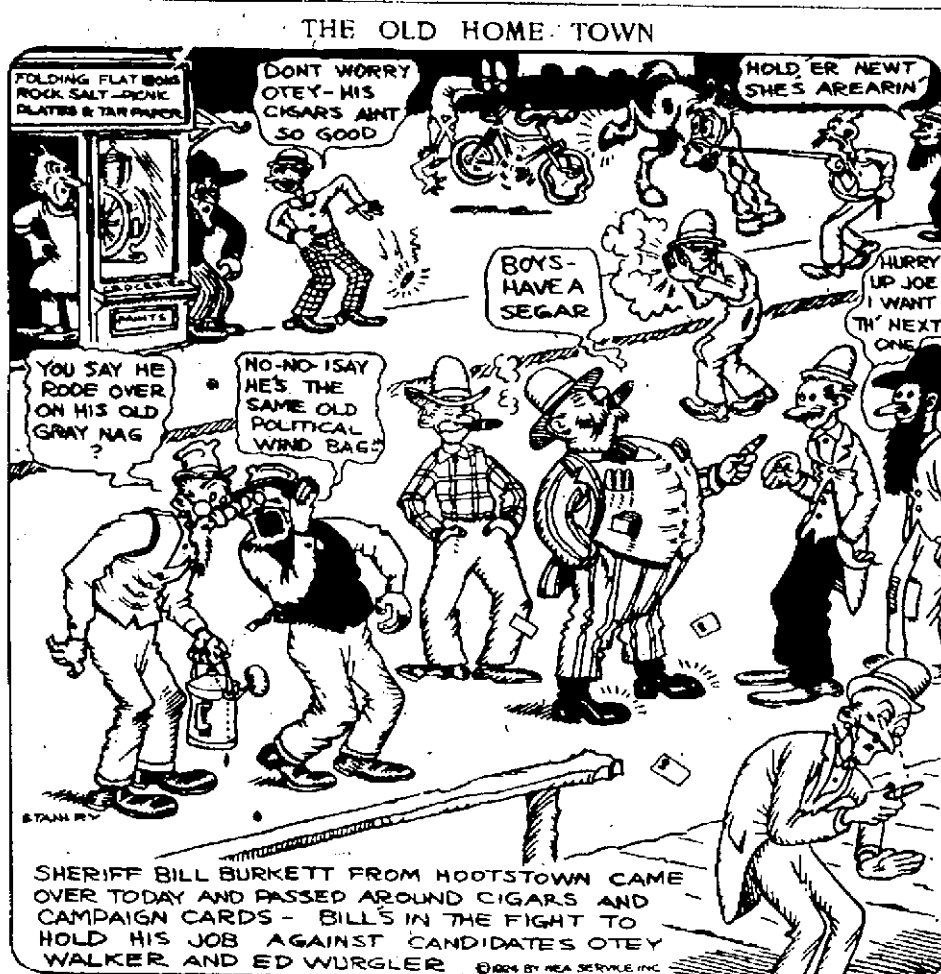

This dish furnishes both starch and vegetables, thereby taking the place of potatoes and the extra vegetables considered necessary for every dinner.

KEEP SWEET OIL—Always keep sweet oil in the kitchen cabinet to be used immediately in case of a burn.

"FLAYS FLAGRANT CORRUPTION OF REPUBLICAN ADMINISTRATION"

Wm. C. Osborn in Address as Permanent Chairman of
N. Y. Democratic Convention Declares if Davis is Elected He Will Be "Neither Cool Nor Cautious"

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 26.—The concluding session of the democratic state convention today gave promise of developing into a ratification meeting, due to the absence of opposition to the renomination of Governor Alfred E. Smith and his associate elective officers. Not in many years has a state democratic convention been so free from contests.

The day's program called for convening at 11 o'clock standard time, and the formal selection of William C. Osborn as the permanent chairman.

The resolutions committee, headed by Senator James J. Walker, majority leader of the upper house, worked through most of the night putting on the finishing touches of the party platform, for presentation to the delegates. It was understood the document closely followed previous democratic platforms. No opposition to its adoption was anticipated.

Senator William T. Byrne of Albany was selected to place the name of Governor Smith in nomination. The governor was prepared to go before the delegates and accept immediately.

The officers to be renominated in their speeches were: George R. Lunt, lieutenant-governor; James A. Hamilton, secretary of state; James W. Fleming, comptroller; George R. Schuler, treasurer; Carl Sherman, attorney-general; Dwight B. Ladd, engineer and surveyor.

Selection of presidential electors and the adoption of routine resolutions completed the program. Names of the electors were submitted to the various county delegations last night for their approval.

Osborn Flays G.O.P.
William C. Osborn of Dutchess county, in his address as permanent chairman of the democratic state convention today, attacked what he termed the "flagrant corruption of the republican national administration" and declared that if John W. Davis was elected president, he would be "neither cool nor cautious."

"Mr. Davis can and will strike the heavy blows of the true leader, Mr. Osborn said. 'His western trip proves that he can charm and draw men to his way, but he is a courageous leader and a winner and his force will bring to accomplishment the principles he advocates.'

"The importance of this convention," the chairman said, "lies in the hope that it will continue the magnificent administration of the affairs of this state which we have enjoyed for the last two years and that it will assist in rebuilding conditions which have come to light in Washington. We Americans have never sat easily under corruption at Washington, and, please God, we never will."

"I find it hard to believe," he continued, "that the flagrant corruption of the republican party at Washington will not result at this election to the rebuke which it merits."

"What a contrast between the administration at Washington and at Albany. In the capital of this state there has been a clear-headed integrity throughout the administration; there has been open public dealing with the public in this there has been a simple, straightforward, progressive, constructive program; and there has been effective and successful action up to the limit permitted by the parliamentarianism of a republican assembly."

After praising the spirit, "earnestness of heart and human sympathy" of Governor Smith, Mr. Osborn said: "No one can deny that Al Smith is a stout two-handed fighter, but he has so conducted himself that his heaviest blows have left no bitterness because he has ever just. He has been indeed a fighter without bitterness and a friend without favorites."

"Working with a spirit which has brought the government close to the people, he has been vigorous without rigor and progressive without radicalism—it is any wonder that for the last two years under Alfred E. Smith we have had government with the consent of the governed?"

Two Arraigned
FOR DRUNKENNESS
Wilfred Lauer rang in a fire alarm last evening for what he thought was a fire in the Whittier house in Washington street, but when a patrolman arrived he was told that the alarm was a mistake. Lauer was arrested by Patrolman John Mahan on a charge of drunkenness. The officer stated that defendant had previously sought to summon the fire department by trying to vainly ring in an alarm at a police box. Lauer insisted this morning that he was under the impression that a fire was in progress as he had seen volumes of smoke issuing from the house. The court felt he had made an honest mistake and placed the case on a future date.

Wife of Murder Victim
Has Disappeared
poverty, that I am taking away my life. I am going to the water and will jump in and no one will see me any more, as my whole life is poisoned, because he is going with his and his wife to live with them. He has three wives which he married and does not live right with either of them. One is in Passaic and her name is Mary Urdin, the other one is in Springfield and I'm his third wife, and I had to drown myself to avoid him. I had no more guts of what has happened and I was not in the store and did not know anything."

"When I returned home he was dead and two men were sitting there and they told me not to give them away or else they would kill me too, in the same place where he was killed and he also lay me in the same place. I was frightened and they told me they would forgive me. I am not to be blamed for what has happened for, he married so many times and does not give support to any of them. On account of him I have to take my life away, that will be the same death when I jump into the water. I am insured so give me a funeral for my bones. As his life was not good so was his death, what they threatened him with he got. I am not to blame for that."

Nothing has been seen or heard of the woman since she disappeared.

NO TRACE OF PLANE REPORTED LOST
COHASSET, Mass., Sept. 26.—Although those who reported that a plane had struck the water and sunk off here yesterday stuck to their story, today officials of the town accepted the opinion of army and navy air officials at Boston that the conditions as reported indicated that the reports were in error. Search had failed to discover any trace. All planes in Greater Boston answering the description given were accounted for, and Mark Hogue, a commercial flier, said he was cruising over Cohasset and South Shore towns about the time of the reported accident yesterday, taking pictures.

LOWELL MAN HONORED AT BOSTON CONVENTION
John J. McDonough, well known local undertaker, was yesterday elected vice president of the Massachusetts Funeral Directors' association at the annual convention held in Northbrook hall, Boston. Mr. McDonough has been identified with the association in an official capacity for many years. He is just completing a term as a member of the executive board.

Other officers elected yesterday were: President, Arthur Chamber of Brookline; treasurer, Henry Clark of Melrose; secretary, Charles L. Reade of Waltham.

COOLIDGE DENOUNCES FEDERAL OWNERSHIP OF RAILROADS

President in Address at Philadelphia Pleads for Determined Resistance to Encroachments on Constitution—Returns to Washington

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 26.—Speaking last night at exercises commemorating the 150th anniversary of the meeting in Carpenter's hall of the first Continental congress, President Coolidge asked the nation to preserve the authority of the courts and to maintain their control of government and their property rights. He denounced the "encroachments" and "encroachments upon our rights" proposals for government ownership of railroads and other public utilities.

"Our forefathers," said the president, "were alert to resist all encroachments upon their rights. We can do no less. Though the breaking down of the power of the courts lies an easy way to the confiscation of the property and the destruction of the liberty control. The domination of a group would be so firmly entrenched in the whole direction of our government that the privilege of citizenship for the rest of the people would consist largely in the payment of taxes."

Declaring that the constitution was "a device for maintaining in perpetuity the rights of the people, with the ultimate extinction of all privileged classes," President Coolidge declared that whenever the legislative or executive power undertook to overstep the bounds of its limitations, "any person who is injured may resort to the courts for protection and remedy."

"We do not submit the precious rights of the people," he added, "to the hazard of a prejudiced and irresponsible political domination, but preserve and protect them by an independent and impartial judicial determination. We do not expose the rights of the weak to the danger of being overcome in the public forum by popular clamor, but protect them in the sanctity of the court room, where the still small voice cannot fail to be heard. Any attempt to change this method of procedure is an attempt to put the people again in jeopardy of the impositions and the tyrannies from which the first continental congress sought to deliver them. This only position that Americans can take is that they are against all despotism whether it emanates from a monarch, from a parliament or from a mob."

The president spoke before a large crowd in the Academy of Music.

Return to Washington
WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—President Coolidge faced the remaining stretch of the campaign today, upon his return from Philadelphia where he spoke last night with an unannounced program so far as his own plans for participation are concerned.

Two addresses are on the president's calendar now, both to be delivered at occasions here early next month. As to suggestions made to him to accept some of the invitations extended to him to speak in the middle west, Mr. Coolidge recently made it known that he had not changed his previous plans to remain at his desk during the campaign. He will, however, go over plans for the remainder of the campaign with William M. Butler, chairman of the republican national committee, here tomorrow or early next week.

As on his only other visit away from Washington since being formally notified of his nomination, the president confined his trip yesterday to participation alone in the Philadelphia exercises and his way along either way on the trip there, though crowds had assembled at all stations along the route.

Reaching home shortly after midnight Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge returned to the White House for the night and the president was up early this morning to begin his usual morning routine with the regular semi-weekly cabinet meeting on the day's calendar.

JONES EIGHT UP ON OULMET
The champion thus became in great danger of losing his title this afternoon. Jones and Oulmet halved the first hole in par four and the second in par five. Jones won the third hole in a par three, Oulmet being off the green with his second shot. Jones became two up by winning the fourth hole in par five, Oulmet putting his third shot into a brook. Jones won the fifth with a par four, Oulmet, halved, three holes to the green. They halved the sixth in par four. Continuing his machine-like golf, Jones took the tenth hole with a par four, Oulmet being trapped on his second shot. The 11th was halved in par four. Jones became six up at the 12th with another par four, Oulmet being trapped again on his approach. The 13th was halved in par three. Jones became seven up with a par four at the 14th, Oulmet making his usual visit to the brook. Oulmet's lead rose to eight at 15th as the result of another par four and Oulmet's proneness to traps. The 16th was halved in par four, Jones preventing Oulmet from trying for a three by laying him a sly shot. A putt from three made Jones six up at the 17th. Oulmet taking three putts. Oulmet, with par four, won his only hole of the morning at the 18th, when Jones hooked to rough. This left Jones eight up. George von Elm of Los Angeles, was two up on Champion Max R. Marston of Philadelphia, at the fourth hole, due to a startling recovery by the westerner on the third and three shots to trouble by Marston on the fourth. Von Elm sank long putts to halve the fifth and sixth. Marston captured the seventh hole when von Elm took von Elm's pitch shot and he clipped short of the pin, the champion becoming one down. They halved the eighth in par, Marston making a brilliant recovery from sand after slicing his drive. Von Elm drove to the brook in the ninth, but halved, the hole when Marston used three putts, going to the turn one up. Von Elm took the tenth and eleventh when Marston was over the green with his second shot on each hole. They halved the 12th and 13th. Marston won the 14th when von Elm had a poor second shot, but lost the 15th by driving over the boundary twice and putting his fourth in a trap. Von Elm sank a 30-foot putt for a birdie three to win the 16th and became five up when Marston sent his brassie to a trap and lost the 18th also. PINK TAFFETA The newest coral-brassie combinations are of pink taffeta practically boneless but beautifully embroidered and lace trimmed. Red Grange has reported for practice after a summer working as an ice man. And just after all that scandal of professionalism in college football!
